CALDWELL WORKS OUT FOR 3D GAME

Today

A Theatrical Costumer
A Great Frenchman
Too Many Bites
—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1920.

Two amusing things in the "building of an American merchant marine." A gentleman named Fox, a theatrical costumer, was allowed to buy a collection of American ships. He didn't have money to pay for them. But a little thing like that didn't matter between the administration and a theatrical costumer. Our amusing administration did all it could to help him and start him in the ship business.

On the other hand, a young man named Averil Harriman, able to pay for ships and anxious to do for American shipping what his father did for American railroading, is treated as though he were a criminal by those that should co-operate with him in the effort to show the waters of the world what kind of flag we have in America.

The thing for Mr. Harriman to do is to put out a sign as theatrical costumer, then he will find this intelligent administration ready to sell him, on credit, any ship of which he can spell the name.

Yesterday the Important French officials visited solemnly the house in Paris, "across the Seine," where Gambetta died. It was the fiftieth anniversary of the fall of the empire and the establishment of the republic.

To the eloquence and courage of Gambetta more than to any other force was due the establishment of the French power on a permanent republican basis after the French disaster in 1870.

When Paris was surrounded by troops, Gambetta went up in a balloon, trusting to the winds that might blow him out into the ocean, defying sharpshooters of the Prussian army, intent only on the business of France.

In these days of bigotry and intolerance it is worth while to recall the fact that the "Great Frenchman," Gambetta, was a Jew.

Cotton at twenty cents a pound means a loss of a billion to the South. It makes really little difference in the price of a yard of cotton goods. The cotton grower was not the profiteer.

Changes in the price of farm products have, within two months, cost farmers one thousand seven hundred and fifty million dollars.

It is not the price the farmer gets that makes the high cost of living. He got five cents a quart or less for his milk. Somebody else got twenty.

Our trouble is the high cost of distribution; too many individuals taking a bite out of the apple as it passes along.

The commander at Platteburg forbids his men (officers and private soldiers) to cross a certain street because whiskey is sold in "soft drink pariors" on the far side of that street. Lack of respect for law prevails in the United States. It is unpleasant when displayed in cheating by young boys with whom honor should be first.

It is dangerous when it shows that the country is unable to control criminals that get rich by selling alcoholic poison.

A Spanish professor is sentenced to sixteen years in jail for "writing three articles criticizing the monarchy."

This nation criticized the monarchy in 1776 and won. The Spanish conviction for lese majesty interests you, as you consider the suggestion that this country should enter the League of Nations and make itself responsible, in case of war, for the various touch "Majesties" and other out-of-date things in Europe. Wouldn't it be better to let Europe get rid of its kings, its imprisonment for criticism and other antiquities before entering into any contract to make ourselves responsible with men and money for the fighting that they may start?

CALDWELL CHOICE TO PITCH

Brooklyn Fans Now Confident Dodgers Will Win the Series

By NICK FLATLEY.

Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, Oct. —The poet who wrote something about hope springing eternal in the human breast would be able to give a perfect description of the feelings of the Brooklyn baseball fans if he were here with us in the press box as the Dodgers and Indians prepare for the third game of the World's Series.

You can't tell these Brooklyn fans this noon that Uncle Robbe's team isn't going to win the well-known series. Twenty-four hours back these game fans openly admitted that Cleveland would win easily. But, as Oswald McNutt said, 'tis a great life if you don't weaken.

Batting on today's game was at even. Cleveland is a 6 to 5 choice for the series.

As we dictated these lines to a telegraph operator, who persists in telling us all about his wife and ten kids, despite the fact we are surrounded by World's Series atmosphere, Ray Caldwell, Mails and Uhle worked out with Cleveland catchers.

SERIOUS COAL FAMINE MENACES NEW YORK

Coal pockets, piers, yards and apartment house bins throughout the city are almost bare of coal. Coal is selling at from $18 to $18 a ton. The dealers refuse to quote prices or guarantee delivery.

Coal in the poorer districts sells at 85 cents per hundred weight, bringing the retail price to $17. At the rate of 25 cents a bucket, the price is $25 a ton. No relief is in sight.

BERLIN IN THROES OF LABOR REVOLT

Berlin, Oct. 7.—Serious labor troubles developed in Berlin today. All the Berlin newspapers except the Socialist party organs voluntarily suspended publication and dismissed all employes as the result of a long drawn out conflict with labor unions.

FINAL MESSAGE BY MacSWINEY

Cork Lord Mayor, on 56th Day of Fast, Sends Love to American People

Dublin, Oct. 7.—British military authorities in Ireland become active today and a number of prominent Sinn Feiners who were said to be enrolled in the republican army were arrested.

London, Oct. 7.—From his bed in Brixton jail infirmary, Terence MacSwiney, hunger striking Lord Mayor of Cork, today sent what may be his final message to the American people. The message was sent through his brother, Peter MacSwiney of New York, who has just arrived here. It says:

"Terence wishes me to say that he sends love to President de Valera of the Irish Republic, his colleagues and the American people. He and his comrades in the Cork jail are determined to offer up their lives for the Irish Republic. Terence is very weak, but conscious, and his determination has never wavered."

This was the fifty-sixth day of Terence MacSwiney's hunger strike. Peter MacSwiney was deeply shocked at the change in his brother's appearance since he last saw him. Terence is emaciated almost to the point of death. The bones of his face and limbs and his ribs protrude through the skin. His eyes are sunken until they are almost invisible. He cannot speak above a whisper.

The Cork Lord Mayor was indignant over reports that he was taking nourishment. He told his brother he wished to emphasize that he was dying for a principle and for the freedom of his country. It is rumored that in the event of MacSwiney's death in the immediate future the government will not allow a public funeral to be held in Cork.

Cork, Oct. 7.—Two American sailors, out in the streets after the curfew hour, were fired upon here by patrolling troops.

One was wounded in the shoulder. Neither heard the challenge of the sentinels.

3 ACCUSED IN $371,000 ROBBERY

Boston Brokers Hunted for Alleged Larceny of Money and Diamonds

With eight warrants in the possession of the Detroit police, a search was started today for James D. Crowley, Irving J. Isbell and John L. Layne, Boston stockbrokers, who are charged with larceny by conversion of $371,000 in diamonds and money from Morris Friedberg, wealthy Detroit jeweler.

The brokers, who comprised the firm of James D. Crowley & Co., which formerly had an office at No. 27 State street, disappeared from the Detroit office of the company shortly after Friedberg demanded the restitution of the money and gem turned over to them for investment, together with accrued profits.

Crowley, who is twenty-six years old, lives at No. 102 Norfolk street, Cambridge. Inquiry at his home brought the announcement that he is attending the bankers' convention in this city.

Conspiracy to defraud and obtaining money under false pretences are also charged in the eight warrants.

Beginning with the editions of next Monday, October 11th, the price of the Boston American will be three cents everywhere.

This increase is forced by increased costs of production. Paper which used to cost $40 a ton delivered now costs $130 a ton at the mill and next year will cost $150. Other costs have doubled.

In news service, editorials and features, the American is in a class by itself. It has won and holds its present eminence among New England daily newspapers by faithfulness to its readers and to its own high standards.

The American will continue to deserve the support and confidence of its great army of readers.

GREAT HOSIERY PLANT TO CLOSE

Lawrence Manufacturing Co. at Lowell Lacks Orders; 4,000 to Lose Jobs

Lowell, Oct. 7.—The Lawrence Manufacturing Company mill, the biggest hosiery plant in the world, will be closed indefinitely from tomorrow night. Four thousand men and women will be thrown out of work. Lack of orders is the reason given.

News of the closing had a depressing effect on the 20,000 cotton mill operatives here, who have been concerned for some time by reports of wholesale shutdowns and cuts in pay.

Officials of the company said conditions were bad in the cotton market, and the concern could not afford to continue manufacturing for storage.

Other mill owners are said to be discussing similar action and cuts in wages. Manchester, N. H., mills already have cut pay. According to reliable information, the United Textile Workers of America are raising a $1,000,000 fund to fight any attempt at wage reductions.

Some of the Lowell mills close tomorrow night until Wednesday morning. The rest will close Saturday night and reopen Wednesday.

DIAZ TO BE EXILE IN CUBA IF RELEASED

Mexico City, Oct. 7.—Colonel Felix Diaz, nephew of former President Diaz, who is a prisoner in the hands of General Sanchez, the government commander in the state of Vera Cruz, may be released in a few days and given an opportunity to exile himself in Cuba, as he has promised to do, it was learned today.

TWO KILLED BY MEXICAN WORKERS IN PITTSBURGH

Pittsburgh, Oct. 7.—Two persons, one of them a police officer, were killed by a crowd of armed Mexican laborers, who, following the encounter, barricaded themselves in a house in Homestead, where they exchanged shots with a posse of police and firemen.

'BIG FIVE' PACKERS TO MODIFY PROPOSAL

Washington, Oct. 7.—The "Big Five" packers probably will modify their original proposal submitted to the district Supreme Court providing for the sale of their stock yard properties to a holding corporation, it was learned today following a conference between packers' representatives and officials of the Department of Justice. Final arguments in the case will not be heard until October 14.

LYNN PRINTER KILLED; FELL IN ELEVATOR WELL

Fred Heffer of No. 74 Johnson street, Lynn, a printer, employed at the shop of Perry & Eliot, on Stewart street, that city, was instantly killed today when he fell from the second floor of the elevator well to the bottom of the pit. He was dead when picked up by Albert Mason of No. 114 Pine Grove avenue.

At the request of counsel for both sides, the case of Patrolman Frank A. Norton of the Joy street station, charged with assault upon Dr. John H. Wentworth of No. 485 South Huntington avenue, again was continued by Judge Palmer, in Roxbury Court, to October 14.

RAMEY IS HELD IN $10,000 FOR ATTACK

Frank Ramey pleaded not guilty in Malden Court today to the charge of assault with intent to kill Mildred M. Wanamaker, pretty twenty-year-old Wakefield stenographer. He was held in $10,000 for further hearing October 14.

While Ramey was denying any connection with the brutal attack on the lonely road to the Montrose railroad station, city and State police were slowly battering down his alibi.

It was declared by the authorities that a witness had been found whose testimony would place the nineteen-year-old suspect within 100 feet of the place of attack at about the time it was made.

Another witness it was stated would testify that a year ago he heard Ramey complain of Miss Wanamaker's indifference and threaten to "get her yet."

ASK TO BOOST GAS TO $2.40 IN NORWOOD

Officials representing the Norwood Gas Company appeared before the commissioners of the Department of Public Utilities asking authority to increase the price of gas to their consumers on October 1 to an average rate of $2.40 per 1,000 cubic feet. The present rate charged by the company is $1.75 per 1,000 feet.

RUSSIANS RETIRING TO NEW POSITIONS

Paris, Oct. 7.—"Methodical retirement" of the Russian troops along the Polish battle front was reported in the following Soviet War Office communique wireless from Moscow today:

"On Wednesday, in the region of Molodetchno, Minsk and Slunk, fighting continued.

"Our troops are retiring methodically to new positions in the direction of Barny we occupied several localities thirty versts northeast of Volkysen. There is fighting in progress for the heights of the right bank of the Slutch river. Local fighting is in progress along the Zmirinka-Pressourve railroad.

"Crimean front. We occupied Simonkevo in the direction of Ekaterinoslav. Our cavalry occupied Rosovka and captured the headquarters and staff of the First Don Division. The officer commanding the division and his chief of staff committed suicide. We captured important plans of operations. Our troops crossed the Kachigatsch during the offensive."

LEAGUE ALREADY 'SCRAPPED' BY WILSON, DECLARES HARDING

PROMISES NEW MOVE FOR PEACE AFTER ELECTION

By International News Service.

En route with Senator Harding, Des Moines, Iowa, Oct. 7.—Senator Warren G. Harding opened his five-day invasion of the Middle West here today with a broadside attack upon the Wilson League of Nations and a promise that as soon as possible after election he will consult with the "best minds" of the country, and especially with the United States Senate, towards the formation of an association of nations designed to promote international peace.

Speaking for the first time since President Wilson's recent appeal in the League's behalf, Senator Harding asserted that the League already had been "scrapped by the hand of its own chief architect."

An audience of nearly 10,000 persons who crowded the Coliseum here heard the Senator's assault upon the League and a sternly uttered warning which accompanied it.

"To those," he said, "who desire to incur the hazard of entrusting all the powers of the republic to the direction of a super government or to a council of foreign powers, I frankly say:

"Vote the Democratic ticket and pray God to protect you from the consequences of your folly."

REJECTS RESERVATIONS.

"Interpretative" or "clarifying" reservations, designed to make more specific America's obligations under the league, are not sufficient safeguard for American independence, Senator Harding declared. These obligations, he said, are already specific enough.

"I want to turn my back on them," he asserted, "it is not the interpretation, but rejection, that I am seeking."

Charges that his own position on the league is uncertain, Senator Harding ascribed to Democratic attempts to "befog the issue."

"I do not want any one misled," he said. "I will have no man's vote on a misunderstanding, and I am equally determined if I can prevent it that my opponent will have no man's vote on a misunderstanding. My position is that the proposed league strikes a deadly blow at our constitutional integrity and surrenders to a dangerous extent our independence of action. The Democratic platform and candidate rejects this position as 'utterly vain if not vicious.'

ISSUE NOW CLEAR.

"The issue, therefore, is clear. In simple words it is that he favors going into the Paris League, and I am in favor of staying out.

"My position, I think, has been made perfectly clear, but whether it has or not, his (Governor Cox) position is beyond cavil, and that is that we shall go into the League without modification or substantial qualifications. To such a betrayal of my countrymen I will never consent.

"The Democratic platform and candidate have not declared for 'an association,' but for 'that' association, and it is that association, and not some other which we are promised will be ratified when the Democratic candidate is elected.

"Surely we have suffered enough from the autocratic assumption of a personal wisdom which will neither take counsel nor learn from experience.

"To formulate a plan of international co-operation which will contribute to the peace and security of the world without sacrificing or dangerously diluting our power to direct our own actions is a task of no small difficulty.

WILL SEEK AID.

"It is a task which I have no intention of undertaking alone. There are many conflicting opinions among the people and among the members of the Senate on this subject.

"I shall not risk embarrassing the final solution of a problem so momentous by undertaking to lay down in advance specific details or pians. I am in favor of our doing our full part in the rehabilitation of the world and in securing humanity against the horror and tragedy of future war.

"I am in favor of America meeting her every righteous obligation in this regard. But I shall never present to the Senate any compact by which we will in any degree surrender or have in doubt the sovereign power of the United States to determine without the compulsion or constraint of any extra constitutional body, how and when and to what extent our duty in that respect shall be discharged.

"As soon as possible after my election I shall advise with the best minds of the United States and especially I shall consult in advance with the Senate as the body which we shall have an association of nations for the promotion of international peace."

10 Men to Be Hanged in Chicago in 2 Days

By International News Service.

Chicago, Oct. 7.—The death cell in the old Cook county jail in Chicago has sent many men to the final earthly expiation of crime since the execution of John Stone, on July 10, 1840, but October 14 and 15 are destined to be "red letter" days in the institution's history.

On October 14 eight men, several of them members of the notorious Cardinella gang, will die at the ends of ropes and the following day Arthur Haensel and Frank Zagier will be executed.

One hundred feet of Italian hemp rope will be used for each hanging—1,600 feet in all for the ten men. The hundred feet for each individual is divided into three parts, one part for a "sandbag test," the second for the actual hanging, and the third for emergency use.

One of the prisoners who will be hanged Oct. 15, Arthur Haensel, has been three times reprieved, the first just after he mounted the gallows steps. Haensel, through his attorneys, announced his desire either to be executed or to have his sentence commuted. He does not want to "run the risk" of another reprieve. Zagier, who will go to his death shortly after Haensel's execution, also was convicted of murder.

Brockton, Oct. 7.—Ideal weather prevailed today, for "Boston Day," the third of the 37th annual Brockton Fair. The fair skies served to attract a crowd that gave promise of breaking all previous attendance records.

The racing events and annual athletic meet were witnessed by an audience that packed the grand-stand and Robinson Field to overflowing. The opening of the horse show found the stands crowded with prominent society folk.

Miss "Peggy" Liggett was thrown while riding Gwydyr Bud in the Equality stakes in the saddle class. Her mount took a nasty tumble, and before Miss Liggett could scramble to safety, the mare rolled over her. She was not seriously injured.

DANCING POPULAR.

Those who were unable to gain admittance to the quarter stretch filled the various exhibits and the numerous attractions of the Midway or spent their time dancing in the beautiful ballroom underneath the grand-stand.

The ten-mile modified marathon will, without doubt, draw the greatest number of spectators that have ever lined the home stretch. The display of fireworks and amateur boxing exhibitions will close the festivities for the day.

New England Day attracted more than 10,000 persons who found an attractive and varied program awaiting them.

Thoroughbreds from the best stables in the country competed in the horse show ring. Prizes were awarded to twenty-eight classes.

CROWDS SEE RACES.

The harness races attracted large crowds. After five heats had been run, one being declared "No Heat" by the judges, C. Michael's black mare Belle Al Law won the 2:20 class trot, the first event of the day.

The 2:15 trot was won by M. L. J.—a bay gelding, owned by J. Kingsley. His best time for the mile was 2:12¾.

The 2:12 class trot was won by Alfred King, F. Fox's favorite bay gelding in straight heats.

It took but two heats for James Albert, a bay gelding, to win the 2:18 class pace.

A ¾-mile running race closed the program. Cuviller with G. Clements up won easily in 1:05.

CONCORD CONSIDERS TROLLEY SITUATION

It is expected there will be a large number of citizens at the meeting in Concord Town Hall this evening when the possibility of the continuance of street railway service by the Concord, Maynard & Hudson Street Railway Company will be discussed by U. H. Abercrombie, Jr., vice-president and general manager of the road, and the Board of Selectmen. The town has voted against giving financial aid to the trolley line, and the line will have to discontinue service unless the towns through which its operates come to its assistance.

On Oct. 14, Sam Cardinella, head of the gang which has borne his name for three years, will be first man to stand on the trap. After him will come two other members of the gang, both convicted of the murder of a Northside grocer who was called to the front of his store and shot dead.

The other five cases set for Oct. 14 are men whose trials and convictions received little attention from the public.

ARLINGTON TREASURER 51 AEARS MARRIED

Town Treasurer and Mrs. Myron Taylor of Arlington today observed the fifty-first anniversary of their wedding at their home at No. 18 Maple street. They were married in Nashua, N. H., on October 7, 1869.

FEW ASK SUGAR CANCELLATIONS

American Refining Company Expert Tells Allen Less Than 5 Per Cent. Have Applied

Despite the sharp decline in sugar prices, less than 5 per cent. of New England wholesalers and jobbers holding contracts with the American Sugar Refining Company at 22½ cents a pound have requested cancellation of their contracts.

This was among the statements made by William Edward Foster, vice-president of the American Sugar Refining Company, in charge of its finances, who voluntarily came from New York to tell Attorney-General J. Weston Allen what he knew about the sugar market. Mr. Foster had prepared a lengthy statement on the sugar situation, portions of which follow:

"That the company has no control over the sugar markets, either in New England or elsewhere, is obvious, for the reason that the fact that we have been out of the market and have made no sales for over six weeks, the price of refined sugar has declined ten cents per pound, and sugar can be secured in ample volume, at retail, at about 16 and 18 cents per pound.

ASK POSTPONEMENTS.

"Notwithstanding the severe decline in the price of sugar, less than 5 per cent. of our trade in the New England territory has made application for cancellation of their contracts. Many have, however, asked for postponement of delivery.

"This shows that the majority of our customers recognize the legal and moral obligations surrounding their contracts and realize that, since our company has entered into contracts for raw sugar, it can only insist on its customers living up to their contracts with us.

"The purchase of sugar by the trade has been unusually conservative considerable loss. The attitude of the company is now, and has been, that the company will not force customers who ask for extension of time in which to receive shipments or to make payments. These contracts are not only with small jobbers but with wholesale grocers and large jobbers and manufacturers of food products doing a world-wide business.

"It can thus be seen that orders entered into in good faith should be lived up to, and it cannot of course be known on any other basis than that a contract fairly entered into must be met.

"COST 23.62 CENTS."

"On its part it has outstanding contracts for raw sugar, entered into since the Central district, embracing Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and Wisconsin, was to be issued by the prohibition agent at Washington, either late tonight or early today, according to advices received by Major Dalrymple, prohibition enforcement officer for the district. Major Dalrymple requested the order as a drastic step in his campaign to stop illicit liquor sales throughout the district.

NO COAL, 3 STATES MAY GO WITHOUT HEAT OR LIGHT

Washington, Oct. 7.—Declarations that many cities in Ohio, Indiana and Michigan will soon be lightless, heatless, and without street cars unless relieved of the prevailing coal shortage were made before a conference of railroad executives, headed by Daniel Willard, and coal operators. He forceful was their plea that the conference urged the Interstate Commerce Commission to grant 2,000 cars of coal a day in addition to supplies now being sent to these States until the priority expires on December 1.

SOUTH BOSTON BOY RUN OVER BY AUTO

Peter Nee, aged twelve of No. 10 Old Harbor street, South Boston, was run over by an automobile owned by John Devine of No. 48 N street and operated by Thomas Murphy of No. 7 I street, as he was crossing Dorchester avenue near Eighth street. He was taken to the Carney Hospital, where he was found to have sustained a fractured skull. He is not expected to recover.

WALSH WILL ADDRESS BACK BAY TENANTS

J. J. Walsh, Democratic candidate for Governor, who is actively interested in the housing situation and was instrumental in procuring the passage of the so-called rent laws, will be the chief speaker tonight at the monthly meeting of the Back Bay Tenants' Association. Bates Hall, No. 312 Huntington avenue, at 8 o'clock. A representative of the Mayor's Rent and Housing Committee will attend.

JUDGE MILLER ATTACKS GREAT LAKES CANAL PLAN

New York, Oct. 7.—The plan for a ship canal to connect the Great Lakes with the sea by way of the St. Lawrence river, endorsed by the Democratic national platform, was attacked by Judge Nathan D. Miller, Republican nominee for Governor of New York, in a speech at Brooklyn. He said it would be unsuccessful as a business proposition.

ROXBURY IRISH FRIENDS ASK WILSON INTERCEDE

Protesting against the treatment accorded Lord Mayor Terence MacSwiney of Cork by the British government, members of the Patrick Henry Branch of the Friends of Irish Freedom, at a meeting in Tremont Hall, Roxbury, passed a resolution which will be forwarded to President Wilson calling on him to intercede for MacSwiney's release.

MULLOWNEY'S HEALTH JOB MADE PERMANENT

Dr. Patrick H. Mulloweny of Roslindale has been appointed permanent deputy commissioner in charge of food inspection in this city. His appointment was sanctioned by Health Commissioner Woodward following a lengthy controversy over Dr. Mulloweny's status as a city employe, during which he acted as provisional deputy commissioner.

"No Homeless in Boston This Winter"

"Nobody in Boston will be homeless this Winter," said Malcolm E. Nichols, of the Mayor's Rent and Housing Committee, at a conference held in City Hall at the suggestion of Mayor Peters to discuss the housing shortage.

Nichols stated to those attending the conference that housing conditions were not as precarious as in past months. He said "the real suffering" comes from the fact that persons are limited in the choice of their homes, being forced to pay high rents or be content with the places they occupy.

It was the sentiment of the conference that one of the surest means of popularizing "Homebuilding" would be the extension of credit and loans by private business interests, allied for the purpose.

Big Ball Series Clogs Wheels of Justice

Cleveland, Oct. 7.—The populace anxiously awaits the coming of the Indians and the Dodgers to this city. There are indications that something in the nature of an unofficial holiday will be proclaimed by the citizens.

Manuel Levine, presiding justice in the Common Pleas Court, today issued a statement in which he indicated that the courts will be partially suspended when the series is resumed here. He has issued instructions to the effect that default cases should be delayed so that "attorneys will not be held to strict accountability for their absence" while the series is being played.

MAYOR OF GLOUCESTER PROTESTS GAS RAISE

Mayor Charles D. Brown of Gloucester appeared before the Public Utilities Commission to protest against the proposed increase in the price of gas put into effect by the Gloucester Gas Light Company.

The petition of the company increased its net charge for 1,000 cubic feet of gas from $1.10 to $1.50 for users consuming less than 200,000 cubic feet. Mayor Brown said the city opposed the increase, in view of the fact that for the last six or seven years the company has declared dividends ranging from 8 to 21 per cent., and also because the quality of gas sent out by the city believes the peak of costs for raw materials and maintenance has been reached.

LIQUOR EMBARGO TO BE PLACED ON FOUR STATES

Chicago, Oct. 7.—An order placing an embargo on all liquor shipments into the Central district, embracing Illinois, Indiana, Michigan and Wisconsin, was to be issued by the prohibition agent at Washington late tonight or early today, according to advices received by Major Dalrymple, prohibition enforcement officer for the district. Major Dalrymple requested the order as a drastic step in his campaign to stop illicit liquor sales throughout the district.

NO COAL, 3 STATES MAY GO WITHOUT HEAT OR LIGHT

Washington, Oct. 7.—Declarations that many cities in Ohio, Indiana and Michigan will soon be lightless, heatless, and without street cars unless relieved of the prevailing coal shortage were made before a conference of railroad executives, headed by Daniel Willard, and coal operators. He forceful was their plea that the conference urged the Interstate Commerce Commission to grant 2,000 cars of coal a day in addition to supplies now being sent to these States until the priority expires on December 1.

SOUTH BOSTON BOY RUN OVER BY AUTO

Peter Nee, aged twelve of No. 10 Old Harbor street, South Boston, was run over by an automobile owned by John Devine of No. 48 N street and operated by Thomas Murphy of No. 7 I street, as he was crossing Dorchester avenue near Eighth street. He was taken to the Carney Hospital, where he was found to have sustained a fractured skull. He is not expected to recover.

WALSH WILL ADDRESS BACK BAY TENANTS

J. J. Walsh, Democratic candidate for Governor, who is actively interested in the housing situation and was instrumental in procuring the passage of the so-called rent laws, will be the chief speaker tonight at the monthly meeting of the Back Bay Tenants' Association. Bates Hall, No. 312 Huntington avenue, at 8 o'clock. A representative of the Mayor's Rent and Housing Committee will attend.

JUDGE MILLER ATTACKS GREAT LAKES CANAL PLAN

New York, Oct. 7.—The plan for a ship canal to connect the Great Lakes with the sea by way of the St. Lawrence river, endorsed by the Democratic national platform, was attacked by Judge Nathan D. Miller, Republican nominee for Governor of New York, in a speech at Brooklyn. He said it would be unsuccessful as a business proposition.

ROXBURY IRISH FRIENDS ASK WILSON INTERCEDE

Protesting against the treatment accorded Lord Mayor Terence MacSwiney of Cork by the British government, members of the Patrick Henry Branch of the Friends of Irish Freedom, at a meeting in Tremont Hall, Roxbury, passed a resolution which will be forwarded to President Wilson calling on him to intercede for MacSwiney's release.

MULLOWNEY'S HEALTH JOB MADE PERMANENT

Dr. Patrick H. Mulloweny of Roslindale has been appointed permanent deputy commissioner in charge of food inspection in this city. His appointment was sanctioned by Health Commissioner Woodward following a lengthy controversy over Dr. Mulloweny's status as a city employe, during which he acted as provisional deputy commissioner.

JOHN J. HANRAHAN TO SUCCEED KELLEHER

John J. Hanrahan of Lawrence was today appointed superintendent of the Department of Justice for the Boston district, succeeding George E. Kelleher, who has been made assistant to the Attorney-General at Washington. Hanrahan has been with the Department of Justice four years and has been commended several times for his efficiency.

ACCUSE BROKERS OF GEM THEFT

Boston Men Charged With Defrauding Jeweler in Stock Deal

rants sworn out against the men, following an investigation of the company's methods in Detroit by Mathew M. Bishop, prosecuting attorney. The commission of the alleged crimes occurred between February 3 and March 19.

Friedberg, an examination of the books of the firm revealed, was practically their only customer in Detroit. He admits having turned over $110,000 in cash to them for investment. The diamonds were paid in as margins on stock transactions.

Prosecutor Bishop declares that the books of the brokerage firm show that Friedberg paid in margins after stocks had been sold. It is further charged that the company did not purchase the stocks ordered by Mr. Friedberg, but "bucketed" the orders and then asked their client to cover the margins.

REFUSED $110,000 OFFER.

Friedberg, in a statement made to the authorities, said that he was induced to intrust his money with the company through Joseph Cohen, the Detroit manager, who has since resigned. He said that when he sold out his holding in Jewel on April 18, he demanded a settlement in full, but was offered $110,000 in cash to cancel his account. This offer, he said, was refused by him.

When the company was petitioned into bankruptcy on April 23, in Boston, he said the same offer was repeated again refused.

LIABILITIES OF $200,000.

An assignment for creditors was made by the Crowley firm coincident with the petition in bankruptcy. Attorney Thomas Hollis, Jr., was appointed counsel for the firm. The assignment was made to B. A. Brickley, an auctioneer.

The petitioning creditors and their claims were: Ruth Harris, $625; Archie L. Markinson, $800, and Victor Levine, $400. They claim that the company has committed fraud in that it made the assignment to Attorney Brickley.

John L. Layne is listed in the city directory as a broker with an office at Room 501, 31 State street, but E. Isbell is said to live in Toronto.

The Crowley company, which was a member of both the Boston and Detroit stock exchanges, had other offices in Chicago, Springfield and Helena, Mont.

Conversions as follows are charged in the warrants which have been issued: February 2, $28,000 in stocks; February 10, $40,000 in stocks; February 13, $45,000 in notes, the latter valued at $75,000 and numbering 2123; February 2-3, $5,000 cash; February 26, $21,000 cash; March 9, $15,000 and $10,000; March 19, $60,000 in notes and diamonds valued at $57,000; total, $371,000.

CHANGES ANNOUNCED IN FIRE DEPARTMENT

The retirement of Engineer Joseph H. Clemens of Boston, of Engine Company 2, Boston Fire Department, at a pension rate of $950 a year, was announced and approved by Mayor Peters. Clemens was appointed to the department on February 19, 1895. Assistant Engineer Reuben J. Brough of Steamer Company 8 was appointed engineer with a salary increase from $1,800 to $1,900 a year. The appointment was made to fill the vacancy made by Clemens' retirement. The following men were appointed and their appointments approved by Mayor Peters as probationers in the fire department at a salary of $1,400 a year: Patrick Hanley, 110 Gresbrier street, Dorchester; Albert P. Mitchell, 7 Cardington street, Roxbury; Francis H. Kearney, 15 Holden street, Dorchester; Edward B. Hall, 3 Oak terrace, Dorchester and Timothy S. Buckley, 14 Austin street.

PROPERTY VALUATIONS RAISED AT METHUEN

Methuen, Oct. 7.—The movement for a return to a town form of government in this city was strengthened when the last Board of Assessors' personal property were placed in the hands of the taxpayers. The rate, having taken a jump of $9.50, the greatest in the history of the city, was supplemented by increases in valuation, something unknown in the history of Methuen. In some instance boosts of 50 per cent. were made on small pieces of property. The valuation on real estate for 1920 is $16,595,245, as compared with $10,-656,995 in 1919.

CHARGES U. S. TRIED TO SEIZE SANTO DOMINGO

Washington, Oct. 7.—Accusations against the American administration in Santo Domingo, far more serious than those filed by officials of Haiti, have been laid before this government, General Lajeune, it was disclosed, visited Santo Domingo as well as Haiti. It is alleged that when President Henriquez Carvajol of Santo Domingo refused to sign a new treaty with the United States that would have destroyed the sovereignty of his country the Navy Department landed 750 marines and took full possession. Rather than submit President Carvajol resigned.

FIGURES PROMINENT IN ATROCIOUS WAKEFIELD CRIME

Miss Margaret English, Wakefield district nurse, who found Miss Wanamaker's knitting near the scene of the crime, but searched in vain for the victim's missing pocketbook.

There is no longer any doubt, it was stated, that she was kicked into unconsciousness, not beaten with a blunt weapon, as was at first supposed.

Miss Wanamaker still was hovering between life and death at the Melrose Hospital today. Police officials waited hopefully for a period of full consciousness. The girl seemed to be resting more comfortably, and had brief flashes of consciousness, but was not able to manage coherent speech.

SENT BACK TO JAIL.

Ramey waived the reading of the complaint when arraigned. He was represented by Attorney Peter M. Kiernan. Assistant District Attorney George Stanley Harnen appeared for the State. There was no examination of witnesses.

Immediately after the arraignment the suspect was sent back to jail and the authorities left for Melrose Hospital to be ready for a deposition, in case the victim rallied sufficiently.

That she was almost kicked to death rather than struck down by any weapon is the now generally accepted theory advanced by Dr. J. F. O'Leary, who gave first aid at the scene of the attack. Dr. O'Leary said there were six distinct wounds in the girl's head and that their position and character were such as to indicate that the attacker would have had to hold the victim's head up each time he dealt a blow if he had wielded a blunt implement.

A rusty monkey wrench and a piece of two-inch piping two feet long, such as was found in abundance at the Montrose Nurseries, where Ramey was employed as utility boy, were discovered near the scene, but there exists doubt as to whether they were used. Neither bears bloodstains. They are held as exhibits, however.

"Miss Wanamaker's appearance and injuries when I examined her in the underbrush," said Dr. O'Leary, "indicated that she first received a blow under the jaw; that her attacker then gripped her by the neck, struck her again until she fell or swooned, and then kicked her head until she was insensible. To me it had every indication of an attack inspired by vengeance."

TRYING TO BREAK ALIBI.

Within an hour of the finding of Miss Wanamaker, young Ramey was placed under arrest at the Montrose Nurseries, owned by the N. F. McCarthy Company of Boston. He was digging with a pickaxe at the time and showed no concern. He is the son of George Ramey, a local painter. He has the reputation locally of being "sort of half-witted," but is well spoken of by his employer and his fellow workers at the hothouses. He is large and strong.

Ramey's alibi is supported by four of his working companions at the nurseries—Herman Miller, George P. Mullin, Albert P. Simpson and Frank Heath.

They say Ramey arrived at the hot houses at 7 a. m. as usual on his motorcycle from Lynnfield, and, that after he had hung around a few minutes, he remarked that he was going to take a look at his skunk traps. They say he started off in an easterly direction and that the home of Miss Wanamaker is due West on the other side of the Saugus River.

IN STABLE AT 7:45.

They claim Ramey was back in the stable at 7:45 and that he couldn't have been on Montrose avenue, where Miss Wanamaker was struck down, if he left the house as late as 7:30, as her mother admits. They pointed out that it would have taken Ramey fifteen minutes or more to cut across lots so as not to be seen and that he could not have arrived at the hot house before 8 o'clock or after, if concerned in the attack.

Heath, who claims he looked at the time clock in the boiler room, swears like the others, that Ramey was back in the stable at 7:45. Heath made a test journey to the scene of the attack and found that he made the return trip in seven minutes, leaving five or ten minutes discrepancy, which Ramey's friends claim may prove valuable in his defence.

District Attorney Nathan A. Tufts of Middlesex County, his first assistant, George Stanley Harvey, and State Detective Silas Smith in the presence of Chief of Police Pollard grilled Ramey at Wakefield police headquarters. They also took him in an automobile to the scene of the crime and then had him lead them to the spots in the woods where he claimed he had set his skunk traps.

When the party got into the woods Ramey is alleged to have suddenly recalled that he had taken his traps home the night before. This was a serious contradiction of his original story, it was claimed by the officials. They pointed out that if he had no traps set he could not have had any object in visiting them.

In the opinion of the authorities Ramey's record is against him, in that he was twice arrested and placed on probation for alleged attacks and molestation of Miss Wanamaker. The latest attack makes public the dread of Ramey entertained by Miss Wanamaker for more than two years, and the danger that constantly threatened the girl.

Her parents, relatives and friends knew that she feared young Ramey, whose alleged interest in her was said to be the unreciprocated infatuation of a boy of shallow mind, who boasted to school chums while attending grammar school: "Mildred is my best girl."

Roger Berry of Saugus, who is engaged to Mildred and said they expected to get married next Spring, claims she told him as recently as last Sunday that she feared Ramey would harm her.

MET FATE SHE DREADED.

"Mildred told me she had seen Ramey skulking around in the brush near the road, and she felt even more concerned after her mother had told her Ramey had a motorcycle. The authorities had sufficient warning, and such a fellow should not have been allowed to be at large. Mildred should not have been subjected to such peril every day. She met the very fate she dreaded and had so often mentioned to me and others."

The girl's father, Charles O. Wanamaker, a carpenter, said:

"The Ramey boy gave us continual trouble. He broke our windows with stones, and finally began to hound Mildred. One day he pounced on her from behind and knocked her down and tried to gag her by shoving his hand into her mouth. He fought him and got away. That was two years ago.

"I had him arrested for that and he was sentenced to serve a term in the Shirley Reform School, but his father put up a fight and appealed the case. He was finally put on probation and the probation officer wrote and said if the boy ever bothered Mildred again he would be punished on the old complaint.

THREW ROCKS AT GIRL.

"One Sunday when Mildred was going to Woodville Chapel, where she played the organ and taught Sunday school, Frank Ramey pegged rocks at her, but didn't strike her. Finally he became so obnoxious and menacing that I had him arrested again and his father made more promises and told the judge in the East Cambridge Court that he would sell his house in which they had lived fifteen years and move out of town if they spared the boy. The judge asked if I was willing and I said all I wanted was to have my child left in peace.

"The Rameys moved to Lynnfield, but Mildred every day that I remember the foot of Montrose avenue on his way to work at the nurseries. After his second probation, Mildred said, she saw him lurking from tree to tree, watching her and it made her scar-t."

Search by Mildred's brothers and Miss Margaret English, district nurse and others, resulted in the finding of the girl's knitting and finger fla. a Stilson wrench and the piece of rusty piping, but Mildred's blue velvet hand bag is still missing.

BLINDS WOMAN WITH PEPPER

Sister, Angered by Gossip, Tries to Prevent 'Affair' With Mother of Four

By ANNE DUNLAP

A strange story comes out of a tiny town in New Jersey. In the city the most liberal views of personal freedom are held. Yet in villages only a few hours distant the rigid rules of early New England still bind in their relentless grip.

New York, Oct. 7.—The tongues of the village of Jamesburg, N. J., have wagged with gossip of the choicest sort—the suggestion that one of the village's most acceptable men was decidedly attentive to a young matron among the city Summer visitors at a boarding house.

The result was the near blinding of the city woman with a handful of red pepper thrown into her face by the young man's angry sister, the arrest of the thrower and her release on $200 bail.

Mrs. John Jennings, the sister, is the wife of a Jamesburg councilman, who is also assistant chief of the village fire department. Mrs. Herbert P. Thomas, wife of an insurance broker of the firm of McCrea & Thomas, No. 32 Wall street, was the victim.

"FORGOT THE CONSEQUENCES."

Mrs. Jennings, young and comely, with brown hair and flashing dark eyes, said:

"Yes, I threw the pepper into that woman's face because I did not want my brother to get too well acquainted with her. Mrs. Thomas has been following our brother, Norman Jobes, for the whole Summer. She has asked him many times to take her for motor trips and go with her on long walks.

"My mother has been in a frightful nervous state all Summer because of her, and so have I. When I saw Mrs. Thomas talking to my brother in front of our house I forgot all about the consequences, rushed into the house, got the pepper and threw it at her.

Mrs. Jones, the mother, a slender delicate woman of refined speech and manner, yet with a determined chin, said:

"I asked Mrs. Thomas to stop meeting my son, who is only twenty-five years old. She only laughed and said she liked Norman in a friendly way. In the city such things are perhaps go unnoticed. But this is not the city. She can go away soon with her husband and children. But we are left behind to face the music of such gossip."

CHATTED WHEN THEY MET.

Mrs. Thomas was found in a house not far away, minding her four children, each of whom had a separate demand for every moment. The eldest is not yet eight. The youngest lay tossing her things from a baby carriage and demanding that they be restored to her. There is soon to be a fifth. Of the whole affair Mrs. Thomas said:

"It apparently is the result of an unreasonable jealousy, fanned to flame by village gossip. When we first came here we had rooms at a boarding house across the street from Mrs. Jobes. My husband soon became friendly with her son, Norman. As he was often in the young man's company quite naturally I was introduced.

I sometimes met Mr. Jobes when I was marketing and stopped to chat with him a moment on the street. My regard for the boy was of the most evident impersonal nature.

One day, about two weeks ago, my husband had a letter from Mrs. Jennings, asking him to watch the conduct of his wife and relating stories of gossip that had reached her. As the letter was sent to his office in New York he immediately rushed home to see what was the matter. Of course, he was indignant. We agreed that in view of the gossip it would be best not to speak to the young man in future.

WOULD NOT STOP THIS TIME.

"The next time I met Mr. Jobes on the street he paused to talk. I hurried on, after explaining that his people had put our association in such a compromising light I would not talk to him again, and saying how sorry I was that either of us should be so embarrassed.

About two weeks afterward—nearly a week ago—I was returning from market, when Mr. Jobes ran down from his veranda and stopped me before his house. He was saying how absurd it was that the awkward situation should be prolonged, and apologizing for his sister's part in it, when I noticed her approach, both hands in her sweater pockets. She came near me.

I remember nothing but the blinding agony that followed.

VETERAN WILL TAKE BRIDE IN ARLINGTON

Miss Mary Adelaide Dempsey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Dempsey of No. 61 Newland road, Arlington Heights, will be married this evening to Edward James Dacey, a veteran of the World War, son of Mrs. William Dacey of No. 1263 Massachusetts avenue, also of Arlington Heights. The ceremony will be performed in the rectory of St. James' Church.

FUNERAL OF RETIRED BROKER IN NEWBURYPORT

The funeral of Charles Austin Morse of Concord, a retired Boston broker, was held this afternoon at the Oak Hill chapel, Newburyport. Rev. Smith Owen Dexter, rector of the Trinity Episcopal Church of Concord, officiated. Mr. Morse was born in Newburyport December 4, 1844.

Liquor Is Gift of God, Says Churchman

London, Oct. 7.—"I consider alcoholic beverages properly used in moderation as one of God's best gifts," said the Rev. J. J. Dias, chancellor of the Allandaff Cathedral, and one of the most outspoken champions of alcoholic liquors in England.

"It is the best stimulant for bodily and mental fatigue and injury. It is the best and safest cure for sleeplessness. In cases of weak digestion it gives tone to the system and promotes cheerfulness, which in turn promotes health."

The Rev. Dr. Dias is eighty-six years old and one of the most prominent Welsh writers.

MAN ACCUSED OF WEDDING FRAUD

Gladys M. Welch Charges Cuzzens Threatened Her Following Illegal Marriage

Gladys M. Welch of Boston, in a bill in equity brought against Hezekiah R. Cuzzens of Boston, declares that in 1895, through the deceit of Cuzzens, she was made the victim of an unlawful marriage.

After she discovered the alleged deception practiced upon her she says she continued to live with Cuzzens because he threatened her and because she believed in his promises to really marry her.

The marriage ceremony, she says, was performed at New Lexington, O., in 1895 by a person, who at the time she supposed was a clergyman.

The plaintiff says that she continued to live with Cuzzens in Boston until early in the present year when she became satisfied that he did not intend to make her his legal wife and thereupon left him.

Judge Wait of the Superior Court has enjoined Cuzzens from disposing of furniture and other personal property claimed to be owned by the plaintiff, and the case will come up in the Superior Court on Wednesday next.

$17,000,000 IN BRITISH GOLD REACHES NEW YORK

New York, Oct. 7.—Seventeen million dollars in British gold arrived here on the White Star Liner Olympic. It will be used in payment of part of England's share of the Franco-British debt, which falls due this month. It was estimated that fortunes aggregating $2,000,000,000 were represented on the passenger list. Among the passengers were Thomas Fortune Ryan, James Speyer, Marshall Field, Maurice Guggenheim and Jules Bach.

YEOWOMAN RETURNS AFTER 18 MONTHS

Miss Renie Jeffrey, formerly of Everett, has just returned to her home, No. 2 Brenton street, Dorchester, after an absence of eighteen months at the U. S. Naval Training Station, Great Lakes, Ill., during which time she was chief yeoman in the office of the officer in charge of the Naval Radio station.

Miss Jeffrey was one of the first chief yeowomen in the Naval Reserve Force during the World War and was attached to the Radio School at Harvard College until it was moved to Great Lakes.

DRUGGISTS MUST KEEP LIQUOR SALES RECORD

The Licensing Board of the city of Boston has issued a circular letter notifying the holders of druggists' licenses that it is necessary for them to keep a record of each sale of intoxicating liquor as heretofore, as the Supreme Court of the Commonwealth has decided that the State law in regard to the sale of intoxicating liquors is still in force.

WOMEN DEMAND LAWS TO PROTECT THEIR HONOR

A widespread demand for more drastic punishment for crimes against women was voiced by new women voters today as the result of the general feeling of pity for Mildred M. Wanamaker of Wakefield attacked and brutally beaten on her way to work in this city from her home in Montrose, a section of Wakefield.

The demand met with instantaneous support from the prospective women voters. However they differed on political candidates, all were unanimously agreed in the demand for a law that would inflict drastic sentences on marauding criminals who would destroy the sanctity of womanhood.

"If such an attack as was made on Miss Wanamaker had been made on property—as was the feeling of the women. The attacker would have been more severely punished than he probably will be in the Wanamaker case.

"To make the laws dest severely with such fiends," explains Mrs. Winona Osborne Pinkham of the Boston League of Women Voters, "the Social Hygiene Committee of the National League of Women Voters has already drawn up its recommendations.

"SHOULD BE AT LEAST 18."

"For instance, we have already seen that in States where women voted, the age of consent has been raised to eighteen. That age, in Massachusetts, is only sixteen. It should be made as high as possible, eighteen at any rate, to the end that the man who misbehaves may come to see that he is more responsible, in some cases, than the woman. The raising of the age helps create a single standard of morality, which women voters are determined to create. For sin is the same whatever the sex of the offender."

"If this attack had been against property," Boston women interviewed said, "the case, suspected of the attack, long ago would have been put in restraint.

"EQUAL SEGREGATION."

"And this is why," Miss Alice Stone Blackwell, president, ex-officio of the Massachusetts League of Women Voters, said, "the new voting woman will insist on equal segregation for the feeble-minded man as for the feeble-minded woman. Heretofore, under the laws made by men wholly, there has been ample power to segregate the feeble-minded woman. The argument is plain. If society is good for society to perpetuate feeble-minded children, therefore segregate the women.

"But, as history has proved, the feeble-minded man at large with the unrestraint that his quality of mind allows, is quite as much of a menace to society in a different way as the woman.

"Society must be protected, and that is why the League of Women Voters, in its social hygiene program, includes a recommendation in the provisions for delinquents, minors and defectives, as follows:

"Provision shall be made for the mental examination and diagnosis of all children; there shall be registration of abnormal cases; they shall be educated according to their possibilities; there shall be supervision during the school age. And custody for those unable to adjust themselves to a normal environment shall be required."

"REFUSE TO CONVICT."

Miss Blackwell discussed possible laws to protect women against attacks. "In the Western States," she said, "what is called the 'age of consent' has been raised to eighteen, in some States twenty-one, where women have been voting a few years. In some cases this works an injustice, as juries will refuse to convict. In a case like the one in Wakefield, however, a high age is an excellent thing, as the very severest penalty can be secured from a jury where force or brutality has been resorted to.

"Therefore the age of consent, as high as possible, should be left on the statute books, as a case of violence. Where the error is more evenly distributed there should be created a 'human' court, or what Judge Lindsey has in his State, a Redemption Court, where offenders can be treated, which would make both parties and the parents of both, if they are minors, all responsible to adjust the wrong, apart from the criminal section.

"Certainly, for the protection of the community, we must get law which will make crime against life and integrity of women far more severely punished than any offense, however heinous, against property.

CARE OF DELINQUENTS.

The National League of Women Voters, in its social hygiene program, outlines the care of delinquents as follows: Reformatory farms for delinquent men and women; industrial farm schools for delinquent boys and girls.

These institutions should provide for the investigation of case histories; mental and physical examination; moral agencies for character development; vocational training and indeterminate sentences with provisions for parole. They should have trained officers.

And, last of all, for the segregated weaker members of society, the feeble-minded, the National League of Women Voters urges that women be placed on the governing boards of all institutions; that women serve as protective officers, as local and State police; as court officials and as physicians in institutions where the criminal feeble-minded are confined.

COOLIDGE MAY SPEAK FROM HARDING'S PORCH

Chicago, Oct. 7.—Governor Coolidge of Massachusetts, Republican vice-presidential nominee, may appear with Senator Harding at a front porch meeting on "Young America Day," October 18, at Marion, O., according to an announcement made here. If the Massachusetts executive accepts the invitation his speaking tour of the New England to start October 17, will be postponed.

PREDICTS ROOT WILL BE SECRETARY OF STATE

New York, Oct. 7.—Elihu Root will undoubtedly be Secretary of State when Harding is President, as he surely will be," declared William M. Chadbourne, who has just returned from Europe where he made a confidential survey of European affairs for Senator Harding.

He characterized the European attitude toward America as "humbled." They do not seem to get the American viewpoint," he said.

MASS MEETING TONIGHT BY ITALIAN REPUBLICANS

An Italian mass meeting will be held tonight at Faneuil Hall by the Italian Republican Club. The speakers will include Saverio Romano, Mrs. Rosa Raggi, Michael Lungaro, Frank S. Hall, Lieutenant-Governor Channing H. Cox, Mrs. Charles Sumner Bird, Mrs. Frederick N. Bagley and Mrs. Albert J. Lewis.

JAMES FRANK SUMNER'S FUNERAL IN LEXINGTON

Funeral services for James Frank Sumner, a native of Lexington, who formerly was in the lumber business in Boston, were held this afternoon at the grave in the Lexington cemetery. The services were conducted by Rev. John Mills Wilcox, minister of the Lexington

'PILGRIMS FIRST BOLSHEVIKI'

Established Soviet Republic in U. S., but Failed, Says Rev. Dr. C. W. Wendte

"The Pilgrim Fathers were called the first Bolsheviki in America, and they established a Soviet republic but it signally failed," declared Rev. Dr. Charles W. Wendte, president of the National Federation of Religious Liberals, before the congress of Liberal Christians in Unity House.

The communist policy of the Pilgrims was given in detail by the speaker, in which he showed how they tried to eat at a common table and do one another's work and promote in this way, industrial democracy.

"But their democracy failed and with it failed the first attempt to have a Soviet republic in America," he continued.

"We see it occurring all over again; old dogmas are dying before the acid test of intelligence and the tendency of the age is to unite all Christians into fellowship. The Massachusetts Federation of churches had not drawn any fast lines. All are warmly welcomed to its deliberations."

DEPLORES RACE PREJUDICE.

He deplored the antipathy against any race on account of color. The individual freedom is the only true Christian unity, he asserted.

Rabbi David Philipson of Cincinnati spoke of the Jewish liberals and their relation to the work and achievements of the Pilgrim Fathers.

"True, among those Pilgrims there was no representative of the Jewish faith," he said. "But as an American citizen and religious liberal, I look upon myself as a spiritual heir of the legacy bequeathed to all strugglers for religious liberty by the Pilgrim Fathers.

"There is not a Jew in all America, in all the world, but utters a prayer of thanksgiving to God for the Pilgrim Fathers.

"I cannot help but recall the conditions of the Jew in 1620 in England, for in that very year no Jew could live as a confessor of his faith. Expelled from that land in 1290, they were not allowed to return till 1653.

JEWS BARRED OUT.

"These Jewish Pilgrim Fathers afterwards were refused a landing in New Amsterdam by Peter Stuyvesant, and were admitted only after a long delay. I cannot forget this fact on this occasion."

The speaker deplored present conditions. "The distinctions forgotten during the war are now being fanned into flames by fomenters of religious, racial and national antagonisms," he declared.

Social work in answering many problems in rural centres was discussed by the Rev. Sarah A. Dixon, pastor of the Federated Church, Hyannis.

"We must encourage thoroughgoing individual thinking and reduce all churches to a common denominator, as they say in arithmetic," she stated.

"There are too many incompetent men and women ruling the churches in rural communities and this type of individual is likely to impoverish and hinder the growth of any religious organization in a small town."

Secretary Frank H. Burt of Newton declared the ancient creeds were as dead as their writers. "It is time for people of different communions to know each other better and to join in working for the common good," he urged.

MUST FACE TRIAL IN ATTEMPTED JAIL ESCAPE

Benjamin Gordon's petition for a demurrer to the Federal indictment recently returned against him on the charge of attempting to defraud the government in assisting George R. Hermans to escape from the East Cambridge jail, has been overruled by Judge Morton of the Federal Court, who gave a hearing on the petition. Attorney William Garland in filing the demurrer sought to have the indictment against Gordon quashed. The overruling of the demurrer means that Gordon must face trial.

GIRL INJURED BY AUTO TRUCK AWARDED $2,300

A verdict of $2,300 was awarded Mildred N. Nutt, aged twelve, daughter of Denny J. Nutt of Lexington, by a jury before Chief Justice Aiken in the Superior Civil Court at East Cambridge. She sued Edward W. Ormond of Lexington for $25,000. On October 17, 1917, in Lexington, she was knocked down by a delivery truck owned by the defendant and suffered a broken leg and other injuries.

GAS IN THE STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Recommends Daily Use of Magnesia to Overcome Trouble. Caused by Fermenting Food and Acid Indigestion.

Gas and wind in the stomach accompanied by that full, bloated feeling after eating are almost certain evidence of the presence of excessive hydrochloric acid in the stomach, creating so-called "acid indigestion."

Acid stomachs are dangerous because too much acid irritates the delicate lining of the stomach, often leading to gastritis, accompanied by serious stomach ulcers. Food ferments and sours, creating the distressing gas which distends the stomach and hampers the normal functions of the vital internal organs, often affecting the heart.

It is the worst of folly to neglect such a serious condition or to treat with harsh digestive aids which have no neutralizing effect on the stomach acids. Instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water after eating. This will drive the gas, wind and bloat right out of the body, sweeten the stomach, neutralize the excess acid and prevent its formation and there is no sourness or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and the best form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

Food Order Reveals Russia's Straits

By KARL H. VON WIEGAND.
Boston American Staff Correspondent.

Berlin, Oct. 7.—Moscow has ordered that the transportation of food in Russia be placed on the same basis of importance as the transportation of troops to the front. This is taken as an indication of the recognition of the desperate situation now impending in Russia, notwithstanding that the general situation has been reported as not so serious.

Reports from agents with the Red armies, among whom are former officers of the Czar, received here by courier, tell that Trotsky's plans for a Winter campaign against Poland have not been interrupted and that there is a steady concentration of troops going on.

BANK EXAMINER'S FINE UPHELD IN VERMONT

Burlington, Vt., Oct. 7.—The conviction of Frank C. Williams, former State bank examiner, on charges of malfeasance in office in connection with the case of Ex-Governor Horace Graham, who was found guilty of grand larceny, has been upheld by the State Supreme Court. Williams was found guilty of failing to report the discovery of a shortage in Graham's books. He was fined $500 and costs and appealed to the higher court for a new trial.

HUNT FOR MRS. WARNER'S DRIVER IN FALL RIVER

Scituate, Oct. 7.—The police search for Ralph "Battling" Lopez, the negro who escaped from this town early Saturday morning after it is alleged he assaulted Mrs. Estelle Tyler Warner, has centered in Fall River. He formerly lived at No. 397 Hope street in that city. Information found in his personal effects leads to the belief that he had an account in a Fall River bank.

OUTERBRIDGE COMES OUT FOR HARDING

New York, Oct. 7.—Eugene Outerbridge, president of the New York Chamber of Commerce, one of the original group of five who picked Wilson for President in 1912 and supported him heartily both in that year and in 1916, has declared for Harding and Coolidge.

BOSTON CYCLIST DIES AFTER HAVERHILL CRASH

Fall River, Oct. 7. — Rothwell W. Hamer of Boston, died in a local hospital from injuries sustained in a collision between a motorcycle, which he was riding, and a taxicab of the Bryant Taxi Company. The accident happened on the Providence road and the motorcyclist's skull was fractured.

HARRIMAN WILL PROTECT U. S.

Agrees to Changes in Hamburg Ship Contract In Face of British Criticism

By Universal Service.

Washington, Oct. 7.—The contract between the American Ship and Commerce Corporation, controlled by W. Averill Harriman, and the Hamburg-American Line, will be amended so as to remove any possible challenge to American interest, it was learned today.

This decision by the Harriman interests was announced following a visit by Averill Harriman to the Shipping Board, where he held a long conference with Admiral Benson. The amendments will be submitted to the State Department for its approval, so that if in the future any foreign government or individual should take exception to it, the contract will have full sanction of the government.

In making the amendments the Harriman interests are most particular to state that even in its present form the contract is of the utmost value to America, but that they are anxious to meet the possible criticism that even the British interests might continue to make.

The attack on the Harriman contract, it was stated in official circles here, is only part of a world-wide campaign, planned by the British interests, against America's shipping interests, the amazing growth of which has both astounded and frightened them. For the first time in more than sixty years Britain is openly challenging Great Britain for the proud title of "mistress of the seas."

MEDFORD FOOTBALL STAR FALLS FROM WINDOW

Maurice W. Davidson, the seventeen-year-old Medford High School student and football team manager, is on the danger list at the Massachusetts General Hospital with fractured skull, nose and jaw and other injuries as a result of a thirty-foot fall last Saturday from the third floor of his home in West Medford. Young Davidson was erecting an amateur wireless outfit when he toppled from the window ledge.

COLE BLAMES CARRIERS FOR HIGH LIVING COST

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 7.—John N. Cole of Boston, commissioner of public works of Massachusetts, blamed the high cost of living partly on the transportation difficulties, in addressing the Atlantic Deeper Waterways convention here. These difficulties, he said, added especially to the cost of clothes to the public.

MOLASSES TANK HEARING IS MOVED TO CITY HALL

The hearing into the molasses tank disaster which has been under way in Suffolk County Courthouse for two months past, was transferred to the Aldermanic chamber, City Hall, because of the lack of room in the courthouse building. Hugh Ogden is sitting as auditor. The hearing may last for three months longer, it was stated by counsel for the various interested parties, which include the Boston Elevated, Bay State Street Railway, Boston & Worcester Street Railway and claimants for personal damages against the U. S. Industrial Alcohol Company, owners of the tank.

EAT LESS MEAT IF BACK HURTS

Take a glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys if bladder bothers you

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys; they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney disease. —Advertisement.

FR. CORRIGAN IN LEAGUE WARNING

Shows Dr. Eliot Confuses Its Issues; U. S. Bound to World Duty as Britain Wills

The United States of America or the British League of Nations? That is the great moral issue in the coming election, declared Rev. James I. J. Corrigan, S. J., professor of philosophy at Boston College, to several hundred members of the Young Men's Catholic Association in Boston College Hall, James street. "A new drive is now under way," he said, "to impose the British-Wilson League on the American people. Numerous British delegations are visiting our shores, friendly as usual; one may well ask why this sudden and keen interest in things and institutions American? Will it outlive the elections?

SAYS ELIOT CLOUDS ISSUES.

"Has British rule in Egypt and India—of Ireland I need not speak—been so beneficent and kind that the American electorate can face with clear conscience the moral issue of perpetuating that rule over Britain's conquered provinces? This is no ordinary campaign; not since the Declaration of Independence has the American electorate been called upon to decide so momentous a question. In the 'solemn referendum' that is coming in a few short weeks, the League is the issue."

Father Corigan, in answering recent statements of Charles W. Eliot, stated that Dr. Eliot confuses two very distinct issues: America's moral obligation to help European peoples out of their distress, and America's obligation to do that work for civilization in one particular way; namely, through the British-Wilson League of Nations.

WILSON IDEALS OVERCOME.

"The former obligation few Americans will deny," shaid Father Corrigan, "but it will take a much more conclusive argument than Dr. Eliot has yet given forth to convince most Americans that the British League is the particular way in which American should execute her duty to world civilization.

"Dr. Eliot goes to needless length to prove that President Wilson had lofty ideals throughout his course; but, while his purposes were unquestioned, the wily British diplomats at Versailles did not share out President's idealism to a notable extent. Their one ideal, it would seem, was to protect British interests and in this they were eminently successful.

"Britain lost nothing, sacrificed nothing; gained everything. One may not blame Britain's statesmen for their long-sighted selfishness, but the fact should be recognized. Dr. Eliot says that the issue is a moral one; it is, indeed, but not the moral issue he points out.

SHOWS PARAMOUNT QUESTION

"When one considers Britain's far-flung empire, which comprises one-fourth of the earth's surface and one-third of the people of the earth, it is a moral issue that Americans should long weigh, whether they should morally bind America to help in keeping this vast empire of Britain intact."

LOWER TROLLEY FARE GRANTED IN LAWRENCE

Lawrence, Oct. 7.—The conference here to settle the street car situation was not attended by Homer T. Loring, much to the disappointment of the members of the City Council. Representatives were present from the Street Carmen's Union, who claim that their jobs are in danger and that the street railway is charging excessive fares.

The railway officials announced a special commuters' ticket, good for twenty-four rides, at 13 1-2 cents a ride. The present fare in the zones affected is twenty cents. The change becomes effective Monday.

ROXBURY AUTOIST FINED $50 ON DRUNK CHARGE

Lawrence, Oct. 7.—Charged with operating an automobile while intoxicated, Samuel S. Batton, a Boston business man, was fined $50 in Roxbury, was fined $50 in the Superior Criminal Court here.

Judge Frederick Fosdick told the defendant he was fortunate in not receiving a jail sentence for his offence. Batton admitted that he had taken a drink, and was on his way from Hampton Beach when he was arrested.

IRON WORKERS OFFER TO PAY FOR MacSWINEY CABLE

Inside Iron Workers' Union of Boston, local 346, at its meeting at No. 894 Washington street, pledged its moral and financial support to James T. Moriarty, City Councillor, in his work at City Hall.

To Have Curly, Wavy Hair Like 'Nature's Own'

Women who have trouble keeping their hair in curl, or of obtaining the desired wave effect—and especially those who realize the harm that the hot iron does to the hair—will do well to try plain liquid silmerine. In no other way can they acquire such pretty waves and curls, having all the appearance of "Nature's own." And the hair, instead of being singed, frazed or dead looking, has such a lively lustre and wholesome beauty.

If one will get a bottle of liquid silmerine at any drug store and follow the accompanying directions, she will be simply delighted with the result. This product is of course perfectly harmless and there is nothing sticky, greasy or unpleasant about it. The hair will be quite manageable, no matter in what fashion it is done up—adver-tisement.

DR. AKED SAYS PEOPLE OF AMERICA FAVOR FREE IRELAND

By REV. CHARLES F. AKED, D. D.
Clergyman, Author and Lecturer of International Fame.

This is the third and last of a series of articles by the Rev. Dr. Charles F. Aked on "Why Ireland Must Be Free." The first and second were published in the American on Tuesday and yesterday, respectively.

In the second place the Unionist says that "Home Rule is Rome Rule." That is to say the religious difficulty comes in again. The great mass of the Irish people are Roman Catholics, and here in Ulster a great number of men and women are Protestant descendants of people who in the time of James I, at the time of the sailing of the Mayflower, were brought to Ireland from England and Scotland. They are Protestant, and they say to the English people, and they say to the British Parliament, "You are not going to leave us at the mercy of Roman Catholics? We were brought here three hundred years ago. We are industrious, we are prosperous, we are decent and sober, we have been loyal to the British crown; are you going to leave us here at the mercy of the Roman Catholics who will oppress us and mete out to us injustice and intolerance?" Five and thirty years ago, when Gladstone launched the Home Rule bill, this cry, "Home Rule is Rome Rule," was a very real cry in England. Men like Spurgeon, the Baptist, took it up. Men like Dale, the Congregationalist, took it up. Men like John Bright thought there was something in it, that we were going to put the Protestants of Ulster under the intolerant rule of Roman Catholics.

RELIGIOUS PROBLEM LESS SERIOUS

I cannot for a moment dismiss it as unreal. There is the history of six hundred years of intolerance of Protestants to Roman Catholics in the days gone by. Is there any fear now of the Catholics meting out to the Ulster Protestants something of the treatment that the Protestants gave to the Catholics in centuries that are dead and gone? I am not prepared to dismiss it lightly, without consideration, without sympathy. That is what I have to say to you; it is my judgment, you can take it for what it is worth. The religious difficulty grows less serious each year. It is not now as serious a difficulty as it was thirty-five years ago, when Gladstone proposed Home Rule; and the more we show ourselves just, that we have a desire to be just, and Parliament shows a desire to be just, the less serious, the less menacing will the difficulty be. And while I do not pretend that there is at the present time no difficulty at all, this is the suggestion I put before you: Suppose there should be some disadvantage to the Protestant, is it right to go on repudiating the views of a majority of twelve hundred thousand against three hundred thousand? Is it right to go on coercing with tanks, and armored cars, and airships, and soldiers a hundred thousand, is it right to go on imposing an alien domination upon a majority of twelve hundred thousand for the purpose of saving a minority of three hundred thousand from some possible disadvantage which may not even eventuate and from which, with a free York in every man's hand, they would certainly deliver themselves sooner or later? Is it right to go on doing wrong for the purpose of safeguarding a minority from a possible disadvantage that will certainly in the process of time be overcome?

And the further consideration I put before you is: it is not really a religious person who is raising this cry along the Protestants in Ulster. Now I know what I am talking about, it is not the deeply religious person. It is a political cry. The deeply religious person does not want to have his religion buttressed by injustice. If there are any Englishmen here they know, personally and individually, some of these rabid politicians who are raising the "No Popery" cry. We know very well these men that, if it became a question of taking the really religious man and admitting him to his house, of dining with him, these "No Popery" men wouldn't open their doors to him. And if it became a choice of praying with him or of shooting him, there isn't one of these fellows following the "No Popery" banner who would rather shoot him on sight than kneel down and pray with him. It is not a religious cry. It is a party political cry and the deeply religious person has little liking for it.

LACK OF RACIAL UNDERSTANDING

But be this as it may—and this is the conclusion of the whole matter—the Englishman has had enough of coercion. He has had enough of domination. The average Englishman, the great majority of the British people, the people in England and in Wales and in Scotland, the great majority of them have had enough of the coercion of Ireland. They have had enough of the attempt to dominate Ireland. They are prepared to face any possible disadvantage along the lines I have been discussing rather than perpetuate this system of blood and iron. They are ready for the Rule of Right and Reason.

There is no hatred of the Irish people among the English, the Welsh and Scotch. There are temperamental differences. No Irishman in this world ever understood an Englishman except just enough to make fun of him, and no Englishman in the world ever understood an Irishman enough even to make fun of him. To the Irishman the Englishman is slow and heavy and stodgy and dull and inconceivably solemn. And to the Englishman the Irishman is frivolous and irresponsible; without depth of purpose, without sincerity or ethical feeling; a wild, irrational creature given to erratic flights of humor, of drinking and fighting—especially fighting. But the common sense of the Englishman has come to recognize that these temperamental differences are no ground for political conflict and internecine strife. He does not like the idea of separation. It seems to him the people of those islands were made to live together. It seems to him that the islands themselves form a group which constitute one power. He desires to push consolidation to the extremest limits. He wants to find a path of peace, a way of living together. He does not like the idea of separation.

But there is one thing he dislikes more than he dislikes the idea of separation. He dislikes a thousand times more the idea of domination. He has had enough of it. He has had enough of a dominated Ireland, Ireland held down by blood and iron. Now, the British people by overwhelming majorities, have carried Home Rule for Ireland. Three times in three successive sessions of Parliament a Home Rule bill was carried. It was at least a statute law, but the outbreak of the war induced the British Parliament to delay the enforcement of it for the duration of the war. The British people are ready for Home Rule for Ireland, but the Irishman now says that Home Rule will not serve. He stands for separation, independence, a republic. Well, possibly; possibly is the asking price and possibly Ireland will take a little less. Possibly Sir Horace Plunkett's proposal for a national constituent assembly, elected by proportional representation, which shall form and draw up a constitution for Ireland, has in it some promise, some hope.

But let me be perfectly clear about this: The great masses of the British people have no ill will toward Ireland. We must distinguish between the British Government, following expedient rather than principle and the great masses of the British people. They do not hate Ireland. They would like to be friendly with the Irish people. They would like to follow the path of reconciliation. They dislike the idea of separation, but they would rather have separation than everlasting domination by starvation and blood and iron. They look for the rule of Right and Reason.

PRESENT RELATIONS SHAMEFUL

But now I must say to you: Behold how age by age the wrong persists! It persists! O, God, how long, how long? An evil deed gets into the blood of men and nations. It becomes a deadly infection. A hundred times I have said on British soil from my pulpit in Liverpool, from English platforms, when something in the United States—perhaps in the Senate—was done inimical to British interests or British hopes, the result of Irish resentment and Irish influence in America: "See how the wrong you are doing across St. George's Channel strikes back at you from across the Atlantic ocean!" It does, in the providence of God it has been ordained that you cannot put a chain round the ankle of your brother man without finding sooner or later the other end of the same chain round your own neck. The British treatment in the past has been wrong—economically, politically, morally wrong. And God Almighty can not take the evil consequences out of the life of man or nation while the evil itself remains. The relations of the British Empire with Ireland today represent this historic iniquity, persistent, foolish, shameful. While these relations continue the evil will continue—and the poison will continue to work. But I thank God for the new and noble spirit at work among the great masses of the British people, for the deep, widespread, earnest desire to find the right way and to follow it, to do the just thing and the wise thing, and to heal the wounds of centuries. I am of British birth. American citizenship does not take from my veins the English blood that runs red there. I could not turn my back on England if I would, and I would not if I could. With all my heart and soul and strength I pray that Celt and Saxon may find the ministry of reconciliation easy and may yet walk together, side by side, in all the ways of peace.

THE END.

ULSTER OFFICER FOR SINN FEIN

Northern Majority Favors Free Erin, Says Capt. Macnaghten; Discredits Coote Mission

Even Ulster favors Sinn Fein in Ireland, according to Captain E. L. Macnaghten, formerly of the British army, who has come to Boston to tell of conditions in Ireland. Captain Macnaghten will address a meeting to be arranged by Boston women a week from Sunday.

The chief question for the district councils, returned only nineteen of the fifty-five seats for the Unionists in Ulster," he said. "This ought to indicate plainly enough that Ulster itself wants Ireland a separate entity.

COOTE MISSION UNKNOWN.

"I understand that a mission consisting of a man named Coote and some Protestant clergymen came this country and created quite a stir by disseminating false ideas. We in Ireland—and I speak as an Ulsterman, and a Protestant—did not even know Mr. Coote and his party had left Ireland.

"The so-called mission had no official standing. None of the men composing it amounts to anything in Ireland. Coote himself is a politician and a mighty poor one at that, as anyone who heard him speak can testify.

"The ideas that they aimed to spread are false. In Ireland the question of government is purely a secular one, not a religious one. We Protestants are not afraid of our Catholic fellow-countrymen.

"In Belfast the religious question has been used to try and distract the attention of the miserably paid workers from their economic condition. By spreading the terror of Rome before the weary eyes of these poorly paid and underfed workers, the Unionist capitalists are trying to keep their minds off the fact that they should be better paid.

ULSTER WORKERS UNDERPAID.

"Able-bodied workers in Belfast, the city which the Coote mission held up as a city of progress, receive $8 a week. Girls are employed for 4 cents an hour.

"The 'Black and Tans,' so-called, are chiefly the scum of British streets, enlisted for special service in Ireland. They get their name from the fact that their uniform is half police and half military, a black coat and khaki trousers. And they are in fact half police and half military."

Captain Macnaughten served with the Royal Engineers. He is not connected with any organization, and comes here at his own expense and of his own accord to "put American right" on the Irish question.

Whatever You Do Don't Neglect Your Eyes, Says Dr. Lewis, Who

Tells How to Strengthen Eyesight 50% In One Week's Time in Many Instances

A Free Prescription You Can Have Filled and Use at Home

Philadelphia, Pa.—Do you wear glasses? Are you a victim of eye strain or other eye weaknesses? If so, you will be glad to know that, according to Dr. Lewis, there is real hope for you. He says neglect causes most eye troubles and poor sight than any other one thing. Many whose eyes were failing say they had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful free prescription. One man says after trying it: "I was almost blind; could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses, and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain dreadfully; now they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days everything seems clear. I can even read fine print without glasses." It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time, and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription. Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Drop one Bon-Opto tablet in a fourth of a glass of water and allow to dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two or four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly right from the start, and inflammation will quickly disappear. If your eyes are bothering you, even a little, take steps to save them now before it is too late. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time.

NOTE—Another prominent physician to whom the above article was submitted said: "Bon-Opto is a very remarkable remedy. Its constituent ingredients are well known to eminent specialists and widely prescribed by them." The manufacturers guarantee it to strengthen eyesight 50 per cent, in one week's time in many instances or refund the money. It can be obtained from any good druggist. Because one of the very few preparations that should not be put on hand for regular use, it almost never fails to please. It can be had in this city at all leading druggists.—Advertisement.

LUXURIANT HAIR FOR YOU?

Of course you desire it. Then read of this wonderful hair elixir, KOTALKO

Worry no more about your hair. Miss, Mrs. or Sir! Throw away those liquid lotions that are only drying your scalp and doing no good whatsoever. Don't shampoo the natural oils out of your scalp. Do as 20,000 others have done. Get rid of dandruff, stop itching and fix up scraggly, straggly hair by scientifically nourishing and washing it. It is Kotalko, compounded from the Three Kingdoms of Nature and including native ingredients one of which is the goddess bear oil, which you have heard of as marvelous in fortifying hair.

No matter what condition your hair is in—do not despair. Kotalko is compounded on the principle that aided Nature in giving us a full growth of hair when it was bald (see the picture below). Get it in drug counters for 60 cents—large size $1.20.

I would fix this whole paper with copies of testimonials from persons who endorse Kotalko. The enthusiasm is great when a person finds, after all else has failed, that Kotalko is just what Nature needed to aid in restoring the beauty of hair.

You may now obtain this genuine Kotalko under my guarantee at the drug store, or the druggist will get it for you, but take nothing else that is said to be "just as good," for you will then only delay your use of Kotalko. Or, if you wish, call or send for a trial size which will come to you by mail promptly in a plainly wrapped package. Enclose 10 cents—stamps, silver or coin.

Remember, if you want to stop falling hair, eliminate dandruff, strengthen and develop renewed growth of thin, scraggly hair, or other than gray hair with hair, that KOTALKO is the remedy—so get the 60c size testing box by mail NOW, apply soon or twice daily—watch in your mirror. Address:

Straw Ballot Shows Big Majority of Bluecoats Are Against Cox

The nation-wide occupation poll on the presidency being conducted by the Boston American throws today an interesting light on a number of questions of the hour.

Do wives vote as their husbands do?

What is the attitude, politically, of the former liquor dealer and bartenders?

How are the policemen going to vote?

HARDING THE FAVORITE.

Here are the answers:

Polls taken of policemen through the Boston Metropolitan districts, and returns from Denver, Colorado, show that the champions of the law are solidly for Senator Harding.

Out of a group of seventy-eight policemen of Greater Boston, Harding received sixty, Cox eleven, Watkins four, Christensen one and Debs two votes.

The males give Harding 26 votes and the females 26. The males give Cox 21 votes and the females 19. There were no male votes for Watkins, while two women voted for the "dry" leader. On the other hand, two men voted for Christensen and no women. Debs received the vote of one man and one woman. In their combined total Harding receives 53 votes to 40 for Cox.

LIQUOR DEALERS WITH G. O. P.

Seventeen former Boston liquor dealers gave Harding 12 votes, Cox 4 and Debs 1.

In Chicago, the former liquor dealers are strong for Debs. Out of ninety-seven canvassed Harding received 84, Cox 13, Christensen 5 and Debs 45.

This is the second group in the American's poll to go "red." The first was the garment workers, whose vote has already been published.

Maine is still maintaining its strong Republican lead. The Harding victory which its primary vote forecasted, is further supported in the first returns gathered by the Portland Evening Express, which is conducting a straw ballot in connection with that of the Boston American.

In the first tabulation received from the Pine Tree State the occupational group selected was the bank employes of Portland.

SMALL STOREKEEPERS VOTE.

One of the most interesting groups thus far canvassed in the small storekeepers. This group is considered representative of the small business man. The poll covered Boston proper and the immediate suburbs.

There were 85 ballots cast by these business men. Harding received 47 votes and Cox 28 of this group. Watkins and Debs each were given six votes, while Christensen was cut.

The Harding percentage in this group in Chicago was, however, brought up to a higher level. Among 98 small storekeepers in that city, Harding polled 71 votes and Cox but five. Debs and Christensen each received one vote and Watkins none.

One hundred Water street, Chicago, commission merchants, gave Harding 84 votes and Cox 13. Christensen 2 and Debs 1. Watkins drew another blank.

HARDING PLURALITY GROWS.

The total of the day's balloting gives Harding a greater plurality than any single day recently. Out of a total of 737 votes collected for the day, Harding receives 510 while Cox drops to 144 votes. Debs leads the lesser field with 33 votes against 13 for Watkins, his nearest rival.

CLOTHING MEN CUT PROFITS

Public Getting Real Bargains Now, Says Eli Strouse, Head of National Clothiers

New York, Oct. 7.—An official statement on clothing conditions by Eli Strouse, president of the National Associations of Clothiers, representing the manufacturers of men's ready-to-wear clothing, says:

"The public is now buying clothing at prices far lower than the cost of manufacturing warrants. The present Fall goods were made during the past six months when materials and labor were higher than ever.

"But in order to help bring down high price levels more quickly most clothiers are foregoing profits and selling clothes at prices which would not really be justified until next Spring. They feel that national conditions demand that buying be kept going and labor be kept employed. The public is getting real bargains now.

"Stagnation of business at this time would be disastrous to labor as well as to merchants and manufacturers. The industry is helping all it can to pass through the present very trying period.

"The cost of producing clothing depends on the cost of materials, accessories and labor. During the war the price of wool went up from three to four times the pre-war levels, and trimmings and accessory materials went up still higher. Spool silk rose 300 per cent., silk sleeve lining 400 per cent. and canvas nearly 600 per cent.

WAGES TRIPLED.

"Labor's wage is now three times as high as it was before the war. From May, 1918, to January, 1920, alone, the United States Government Department of Labor official figures show the clothing workers received a far greater increase than those in any other basic industry.

"All manufacturing costs were therefore at their peak when we were making clothes for this Fall. Retailers ordered conservatively and production was made only to orders. The result was that one-third less clothing was manufactured for this Fall than for last.

"The manufacturers and retailers marked their goods very closely as a contribution to the cause of lower prices. Fall clothes are all in the stores of the retailers and on dependable goods the prices are stabilized.

TURNING POINT REACHED.

"There is no doubt that the turning point of high clothing prices has been reached. But the costs which enter into clothing prices are responding very slowly to this tendency. The woolen mills have announced a cut of 10 to 25 per cent. for Spring goods—a cut from the peak prices of this Fall, but from those of last Spring.

"As compared with last Spring, next Spring's cloth prices are only 5 to 15 per cent. less. But the cost of cloth is only one element in the cost of producing clothes so that a reduction in retail prices could not amount to 25 per cent. based on the lower price of cloth alone.

"As for labor, lower wages are not in sight—not until living costs go down very materially. But the public should remember that wage levels certainly cannot go back to the 1914 level, nor will there ever be a return to the old horrible 'sweatshop system.'

"In those days the public was profiteering at the expense of labor. The public does not want a return to the sweatshop. But the people must realize that fact when they come into the stores to buy clothes. We hope, with the co-operation of labor, to increase its efficiency.

NO SLUMP IN SIGHT.

"We are doing our utmost to decrease waste and raise production in the factories and to lower production in this way.

"The best posted observers agree that no violent slump in prices will be permanent. Reductions they say will be very gradual. Present price levels were built up during a period of six years, and they cannot be broken down over night. Manufacturers and retailers will take losses but present levels are far away, if they ever return.

"If the public desires to have steadily decreasing prices it must accept each new price level as it comes. Buying hesitation slows up production and even stops it. This results in a shortage of goods and higher prices. In fine, clothing industry goods are manufactured during the six months before they get to the consumer. They must be ordered months ahead.

"If buying is normal we can plan production most efficiently and produce at the lowest cost—which benefits the consumer. The industry has already suffered from price uncertainty and many thousands of clothing workers are out of employment and factories have reduced operations. This tends to force prices up and the longer it continues the harder it will be to bring them down."

Paralysis Confined to Hub and New York

New York, Oct. 7.—Poleomylitis, the deadly paralysis which takes ruthless toll of children and grown-ups alike, will not travel out of this city and Boston to create a country-wide epidemic.

This statement, given out today by Health Commissioner Royal S. Copeland, was based on an investigation by Dr. Louis I. Harris, head of the Bureau of Preventable Diseases. Dr. Copeland said:

"Poleomylitis is a warm weather disease. That thirty-two cases have been reported here since September 23, therefore, is not causing us the concern that such a condition would have brought about two months earlier. There is no grouping of cases in New York, the nearest being five blocks apart. Of the eight deaths since August only one has been an adult, a person 53 years old.

BOSTON FIGHTS PLAGUE.

"We have no apprehension of an epidemic here or of the disease being carried to other parts of the country."

Dr. Harris, who returned today from study of conditions in Boston, declared that cases of infantile paralysis in that section were largely confined to the eastern portion of Massachusetts. He said:

"While figures show a slight increase of cases in Boston, health officials there believe the peak of the epidemic is reached. The city is fighting it as we do here, by rigid examination of the schools and immediate action upon any symptoms of acute disease. They are not, however, tearing sick children from home and parents as such cases ones were handled.

Take a warm bath every day.

Sleep ten hours in a clean, well-aired room.

Eat three meals daily, at regular intervals, of wholesome plain food.

"In other words," he said, "measures of prevention are only those one would adopt to insure health at any time.

196 CASES IN BOSTON.

"And of course children must not be allowed contact with other children suffering from acute respiratory or intestinal diseases. We have reason to believe the disease germs enter through the upper air passages as virus has been found in the salivary glands. As a precaution I have ordered a campaign against spitters."

Dr. Harris said:

"There have been reported in Boston 196 cases from July 24 to date, the number increasing steadily during the past two months.

"In New York there have been sixty-six cases since the first of last January, and thirty-eight in the last month.

"It is significant that most of those in Boston are now in the congested districts."

IRISH FRIENDS URGED TO DEFEAT LEAGUE

The Bishop O'Dwyer Branch, Friends of Irish Freedom, today announced the postponement of the regular meeting on October 12 on account of the holiday, and urges all members to attend the field day for the Columbus Day Nursery on that day.

The registration committee reminds the members that the final day for registration is October 12, and appeals to all the members to work for the defeat of the League of Nations.

ROSLINDALE A. A. SEEKS TO STOP RIVAL'S DANCE

The Roslindale Athletic Association has brought a bill in equity in the Superior Court against Harry G. Scampton and others, seeking to have them enjoined from giving a dancing party on Monday evening next, under the name of the Roslindale Amateur Athletic Club, or the designation Roslindale A. A., or using either of those names in any way at any time.

The Roslindale Athletic Association was incorporated in 1916 and has since conducted baseball and football games. The name taken by the respondent club is alleged to be confusing.

POLES OUTLINE PEACE TERMS

Demand New Outlet to Baltic, Separating Lithuania and Russia

By International News Service.

Warsaw, Oct. 6, via London, Oct. 7.—Poland's peace terms to Soviet Russia provide a second "corridor" or outlet to the Baltic Sea. According to peace conditions revealed here today, the frontier will be changed so that this "corridor" will stretch from the northern frontier of Poland to the Baltic between Lithuania and Soviet Russia.

Thus, Russia and Lithuania will be separated from each other. The Poles will have direct railway communication with the Baltic through this strip of land.

It is understood that the Letts oppose the creation of the new "corridor" and are protesting against it.

Although the armistice between Russia and Poland is to be signed at Riga Friday, the Polish army is keeping up its successes on the battlefield to the last minute.

The Poles are now only fifteen miles from Minsk, where the Russo-Polish peace negotiations were conducted before being moved to Riga.

Kiev, the capital of Ukrainia, which is now held by the Bolshevikl, is reported to be surrounded by revolutionary peasants and Poles.

CLAIM TEACHER SENT POISONED CANDY

Evansville, Ind., Oct. 7.—Jealousy is alleged, over the attentions which a young man with whom she was infatuated, paid to another you woman, Miss Mabel Speer, a twenty-four-year-old school teacher, is under arrest accused of sending her rival, Miss Mattie Hardin, also a teacher, poisoned candy. The latter did not eat it.

Miss Speer was held in $5,000 bonds for trial by United States Commissioner Harmon.

WELLESLEY BAN ON "MOVIES" IN NATICK

Natick's famous "hot dog" cart and movie show are under the Wellesley College ban. The girls have been ordered to stay away from the town because of several cases of infantile paralysis discovered there. They may motor through, but not stop. Wellesley girls have for years been the principal patrons of the Natick movie theatre, stopping for refreshment at the "dog" cart after the show.

ARREST FOUR IN BOMB PLOT

New York Police Grill Suspects Believed to Be Radicals

New York, Oct. 7.—Four Italians suspected of complicity in the Wall Street bomb explosion, have been taken into custody here and are being grilled by officials at police headquarters.

Giacomo Carusso was booked on the charge of robbery and carrying a loaded pistol. It is claimed many radical pamphlets were found by the police in his room.

Two holdup victims in Connecticut identified Carusso as the man who had robbed them, it is claimed.

Of the other three arrested Vincenzo Alaite and Frank A. Ferro are accused in connection with the holdup blamat to Carusso. The other, Charles Fasula, a barber, is accused of having explosives in his possession.

He was removed to the Haymarket Relief Hospital and was found to be suffering from heart trouble. His name was placed on the danger list.

GRILL POLICE IN AUTO THEFT

Worcester Officers Seen Standing Near Police Garage When Car Was Stolen

Worcester, Oct. 7.—The theft of an automobile, left standing in front of the police garage here, will result in the grilling of at least two members of the Worcester police department by Captain J. J. Casey of the detective bureau.

Captain Casey states he intends to find out if the members of the department have any knowledge of the crime. He says it was reported the two policemen in question were seen standing near the scene of the theft a few minutes before the car disappeared and that they vanished about the time the auto was missed.

The auto, damaged to the extent of $1,000, was found abandoned at Piedmont and Pleasant streets, after colliding with a one-man trolley, at Hudson and Pleasant streets. The driver of the auto backed up and fled after the collision.

Two Thousand Four Hundred Tricolette Overblouses 1.95

Think of it—they are all of heavy Tricolette, in either plain or dropstitch weave, for 1.95! Many women paid as much as five or six times this price for a tricolette blouse this season.

They have gorgeous embroidered net bands of gold at the waist and are finished across the back with a plain band of tricolette.

There are lovely colors—flesh, copen, bisque and rose.

(Winter Street—Second Floor)

Pongee Blouses in four styles, one of which is sketched. Notice the becoming frill-edged collar and trim turn-back cuffs. Another style is quite tailored, with high convertible collar and opeh turn-back cuffs. Another has a wide roll collar—the fourth style is an overblouse with a frill around the neck. 2.95

Georgette Crepe Blouses in two charming styles. The one sketched has Valenciennes lace trimming the collar, cuffs and vestee. Another Blouse of Georgette has real rose filet an inch and a half wide edging the roll collar. Filet picot runs down the front and finishes the turn-back cuffs. In flesh color and white. Only in the Anniversary could you find them at this price. 5.95

Semi-tailored Japanese Silk Blouses. In four styles. The collar of the one sketched can be worn high or low. The others have attractive roll collars, one edged with a hemstitched ruffle; another has revers; the third has a rather wide collar and fastens with one large pearl button. They all have open turn-back cuffs. It is unusual to find them so low in price. 2.95

When Food Doesn't Digest

Give the Stomach a Rational Rest by Proper Aid, Not by Harsh Starvation Methods. Use Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

A sour stomach may indicate an acid condition that calls for an alkaline effect.

This you will get from one or two

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after a meal. Sour risings, sauciness, heavy bloated feeling and such distress due to indigestion or dyspepsia are usually only temporary. And yet they may lead to serious disorder. The regular use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after meals reflects to a high degree the intelligent selection of preventative measures.

One cannot always select or inspect the quality of food to be eaten nor the method or manner of preparation. But it is possible to avoid the acidity that is so often the result. And it is a far better plan to eat without worry over what may happen, than to starve for fear it will happen. Many physicians recommend these tablets for stomach distress due to indigestion or dyspepsia.

Fat That Shows Soon Disappears

Prominent fat that comes and stays where it is not needed is a burden; a hindrance to activity, and a curb upon pleasure. Many forms of advice to reduce weight have been advanced, such as dieting, hard work, excessive exercise, etc., all of which are either unpleasant or dangerous.

The latest, more modern and pleasant way to take off burdensome fat, is to take, after each meal and at bedtime, a Marmola Tablet. These little tablets are as effective and harmless as the famous Marmola Prescription from which they take their name.

To get rid of fat at the rate of two, three or four pounds a week, simply take one of these little tablets after each meal and at bedtime until you have reduced your weight to where you want it. No wrinkles or flabbiness will remain to show where the fat came off.

They are for sale by all druggists at $1 for a good size box. If you prefer to have them come to you direct by mail, prepaid, in plain sealed cover, send amount to the Marmola Co., 97 Garfield Building, Detroit, Mich., and bid goodbye to dieting, exercise and fat. Be yourself, slim, trim and attractive.

TALES OF TERROR IN IRISH PAPERS

Accounts of Outrages and Robberies by British Soldiers Recorded by Press

That a reign of terror prevails in different parts of Ireland as a result of the acts of the British soldiery is evidenced by the reports of events chronicled in Irish newspapers.

The Cork Weekly Examiner of recent date publishes a report of an inquiry into the police outbreak in Limerick. It follows:

"The committee appointed by the Limerick Corporation to investigate the facts in connection with the disturbances in the city on Sunday last, and which, under the presidency of the Mayor, took evidence on Thursday at the Town Hall, issued a report regarding the evidence taken so far.

"The report states that the committee are agreed that Constable Cyril Nathan was shot dead by another constable. The statement in the official report that the police had fired at from a public house the committee found to be entirely untrue; that the premises burned were set on fire by the police; that the wrecking of 100 houses in Carey's road was carried out by the police, and that they visited the district twice the same day and destroyed property on each occasion."

CIVILIAN SLAIN.

The Tralee correspondent of the Examiner reported that Patrick Kennedy was shot by the military at Ballyseedy County Kerry. An investigation revealed that Kennedy and four young men were walking by a gap when a shot rang out, and was immediately followed by a shout of "Hands up." Kennedy was struck by the bullet which was fired by a soldier, who was standing ten yards away, and dropped.

"The other men at once put up their hands, and the soldier on blowing a whistle was joined by a police constable. The constable on coming on the scene is reported to have made a remark to the effect, "Good man, Mick." Further military soon afterwards came to the scene, and the deceased's comrades requested to be allowed to summon a priest. Permission was granted, and they had only gone a few yards when fire from a machine gun was opened from an armored car, compelling both the civilians and the guard over the body to take cover."

BOMB THROWN.

Other items read:

"A bomb was thrown into Barrington street, Limerick. The bomb exploded without doing any damage save to some glass in the building. The explosion, however, caused alarm, the report being heard all over Limerick."

"A telegram received this morning in Dublin indicates that the conditions in Winchester prison, so far as they affect some political prisoners incarcerated there, are nothing short of appalling.

"Eighteen prisoners are confined to their cells twenty-two hours per day. The food is described as being unsuitable and insufficient, the last meal they get being at 5 o'clock in the afternoon, with nothing more to eat until morning.

"During a raid by military at the house of James O'Donnell, Camp, West Kerry, Miss O'Donnell entered the room where the military were searching and observed a soldier with the cash box in his hands which he had taken from the press in the room. She protested, and the soldier threw the cash box away.

THEFT BY SOLDIERS.

"After the military left, on examination of the box, the sum of eight pounds (£400) was missing."

"A limerick raid, a party of military with two officers, raided the residence of Mr. James McInierney, Broad street, a councillor of the Limerick Corporation, and searched the premises, without result.

"Before leaving, the party were paraded on a complaint of Mr. McInierney, and a razor and other property identified by the latter found as his were found with some of the soldiers.

"Mr. McInierney was told by the officer to make out a list of what he missed and he would see into the matter.

"Raid at Carrigatober—During the week a detachment of military raided the residence of a family named McGrath, Carrigatober, near Nenagh, and, it is alleged, took a sum of money, stated to be fifty shillings, from the house."

FAVOR 8-HOUR DAY IN MILLS

Textile Workers in Convention Also Oppose Coolie Labor

Manchester, N. H., Oct. 7.—The delegates to the United Textile Workers' convention, after listening to a representative of the War Savings Bureau, adopted a resolution endorsing the movement.

Among a large number of resolutions presented today was one for an eight-hour day, forty-four-hour week, with no reduction in wages.

Resolutions were also presented opposing military training in time of peace, the introduction or use of products of coolie labor, the restriction of immigration and providing an appropriation for the co-operative movement in buying necessities for the consumption of members. A strong resolution in favor of Irish freedom was also presented to the convention.

Movements are already under way by delegates from Philadelphia and the South to have either Philadelphia or Knoxville, Tenn., named as the next year's convention place. The Southern delegates are making a strong effort to have Knoxville named, declaring that with present conditions in the South, a convention in that section would be of vast advantage to the textile workers of the Southern States.

The delegates were the guests of the Manchester Textile Workers, at which addresses were made by President Golden, the Rev. Ora W. Craig, rector of St. Andrew's Episcopal Church and chairman of the Manchester delegation in the State Legislature and others.

MAINE COURT TO PASS ON WOMEN GIVING AGE

Portland, Me., Oct. 7.—A test case to determine whether or not a woman voter is required to give her exact age when applying for registration was heard in the Supreme Court by Associate Justice Scott Wilson. The decision was reserved. The proceedings were the outcome of a writ of mandamus issued on the petition of Mrs. Elizabeth Alden Holman, chairman of the Women's City Democratic committee, who was refused enrollment by the local board of registration when she refused to give her exact age.

FOOD SMUGGLING UNDER BAN IN CZECHO-SLOVAKIA

Washington, Oct. 7.—Smuggling of foodstuffs and other necessities out of Czecho-Slovakia has resumed such proportions that the government has proclaimed martial law in the sections adjoining the frontiers, it was reported to the State Department.

Peters Best Gross

M. E. Peters, with an 81, was low gross at the Boston dentist' golf tournament at the Commonwealth Country Club.

Miss Agnes Shea, aged eighteen, of Nashua street, West End, and Mrs. Margaret Anderson, also eighteen, of No. 11 Linwood place, the two young women arrested in Brooklyn charged with the larceny of $250 worth of jewelry and clothing, have made a complete confession, according to the Brooklyn police.

The girls, who left Boston last September, were arraigned in the Williamsburg Plaza police court, where they were faced by Mrs. Ethel Holtzman of No. 142 South Third street, Brooklyn, who made the complaint against them.

Under the law the police are required to seize alleged stolen property, but the cases of the two Boston girls presented a difficulty, as part of the clothing, say the officers, was being worn by the young women.

2,200 EX-WAR PRISONERS SET SAIL FROM SIBERIA

Washington, Oct. 7.—The transport Scharnhorst, carrying 2,200 former German, Austrian and Ukranian prisoners of war, has sailed from Vladivostok for Trieste, according to cable advices to the American Red Cross headquarters here. The Scharnhorst is one of the vessels chartered by the joint repatriation commission, composed of American relief organizations for the purpose of returning these men, many of whom have been prisoners in Siberia for six years, to their native lands. The commission is working with Dr. Fridtjof Nansen, director of repatriation for the League of Nations.

RESERVE COMMANDS CAN WEAR BATTLE COLORS

Washington, Oct. 7.—Under a ruling of the War Department issued today, members of organizations assigned for reserve in major operations and serving in the army area during the time will be credited with participation in those operations. This will entitle organizations so held in reserve to the battle clasp. Recent war to have the name of the operation on their battle streamers and individual members of the reserve commands to wear appropriate battle clasps.

FINDS GERMAN RAILROADS "RUINED BY POLITICS"

By KARL H. VON WIEGAND.

Boston American Staff Correspondent.

Berlin, Oct. 7.—"The German railways have become the 'playball of politics.'" Where formerly the railroads paid a profit of close to half a billion gold marks, the probable deficit next year will be twenty billion marks. The ruin is due to politics. This is the charge made by the railway secretary, Karl Bothmer, member of the Reichstag Parliament, in a memorial just issued.

LAWRENCE BABY'S SKULL FRACTURED IN FALL

Worcester, Oct. 7.—Annette Fagan, two-year-old daughter of Mrs. Joseph Fagan of No. 30 Pond street, is on the danger list at the City Hospital with a fractured skull received when she fell from the second story of her home to the street. The injured child was at play on the window sill, lost her balance, pitching headlong to the street and landed on an asphalt sidewalk.

CYCLE OFFICERS WANTED BY NORTH ADAMS MAYOR

North Adams, Oct. 7.—North Adams will soon have its first mounted traffic officers, if a recommendation by Mayor E. D. Declares Nation Would Break Contract if It Failed to Go to War

New Haven, Ct. Oct. 7.—Have we already reached the point in international debauchery where we are plainly promising one thing and plainly intending to do another thing if our interests suggest it?" asked Senator Borah in a speech here.

"The President's last letter to the public informs us," said the Idaho Senator, "that Article X. does not interfere with the right of Congress to declare war or not to declare war; it can conceive of but one way that Congress could get out of declaring war in case of the invasion of territory of a member of the league, and that would be to violate and wholly disregard the plain terms of the treaty and to read it to mean the league covenant itself."

BOSTON BANKING SITUATION THOROUGHLY SOUND, SAYS WEED

BLAMES FAILURES ON LAX ENFORCEMENT OF LAW

"The Boston banking situation is thoroughly sound."

Seven hundred investment bankers from all parts of the United States gave their endorsement of that assertion by vigorous and prolonged applause at the banquet which was the final event of the three-day convention here. The statement was made by C. Fred Weed, vice-president of the First National Bank, who presided as toastmaster.

LEGAL PIN LACKING.

After recounting the Ponzi episode in New England's finances, Toastmaster Weed said:

"New England is a great storehouse of credit for the country and Massachusetts does lack a legal pin with which to prick Ponzi bubbles before the harm is done. However, we have learned our lesson and I predict that we shall have legislation before—well, before the United States of America is officially at peace with Germany." That sally brought forth a round of laughter from the assemblage.

"Again I wonder what you thought of us," the toastmaster added. "When each successive morning's report recorded the failure of another trust company."

"This time the laws of Massachusetts were not at fault. Lax obedience and lax enforcement tell the story.

OFFENDERS PENALIZED.

"In the seasonable parlance of football a few teams were not playing the game according to the rule. There was some holding, not to say slugging. Competent officials noted infractions and the offending teams were duly penalized.

"It is a reflection on the game that such tactics should have been employed and when employed not noted earlier. But it is no reflection on the teams that were playing clean football, and most of the Massachusetts State banking institutions were playing the game straight and in consequence are as strong as any institution in the country. I want to impress upon you that notwithstanding superficial evidence to the contrary the Boston banking situation is thoroughly sound."

The banquet was held in the ballroom of the Copley-Plaza Hotel. Governor Coolidge was scheduled to deliver an address, but sent a note of regret to the effect that circumstances over which he had no control prevented his attendance.

PUBLIC CONFIDENCE NEEDED.

The speakers were Irving Bachelder, the writer, and Robert Walker, a New York attorney, who has specialized in railroad legislation, and Mayor Peters of Boston.

Much of the interest in the last day of the convention centred in discussions of the railroads and their rehabilitation. The railroad securities committee reported that one of the greatest needs of the roads at this time was public confidence. Without that, they said, refinancing would be impossible.

The great trouble of the world is not Bolshevism, Irving Bachelder told the bankers, but a form of conceit which makes individuals feel that they are superior even to the Creator Himself.

"Just now we are like a ship without a compass," he said. "So many things have gone by the board. We have acquired a kind of contempt for the past.

"But I want to call your attention to one thing that does not change or as slightly that there has not been an inch added to it in 2,000 years. Without it we would be living in the treetops. It is the great body of the law, civil and moral, that has come down to us filled with the wisdom of the ages. We may die, all of us, of our own ignorance and folly, but that will not perish."

ASKS CO-OPERATION.

Attorney Walker, after an exhaustive review of railroad legislation in the United States, concluded with an appeal for more co-operation for the Interstate Commerce Commission.

"The commission must have hearty encouragement for the performance of its new tasks with enthusiasm and comprehensive understanding," he said. "Railroad securities are no better than the railroads themselves. By upholding the hands of the commission we shall ameliorate not only railroad securities but the whole underlying essential, adequate railroad service for our nation's growth."

Roy C. Osgood of Chicago, the new president of the association, in his speech to the convention, predicted that the need of better co-operation of the Federal with the State governments in regard to the protection of investors in securities would probably call for definite action by Congress.

ELECT NEW OFFICERS.

Both political parties, he said, were committed to relieve business from present uneconomic tax burdens.

Before adjourning the convention, by a resolution unanimously adopted, recommended New Orleans to the board of governors as a suitable place for next year's convention.

In the election of officers, N. Penrose Hallowell of Philadelphia, Higginson & Co., Boston, was chosen as one of the vice-presidents. Boston members of the board of governors are: Philip S. Dalton of Coffin & Burr, Inc., and Thomas B. Gannett, Jr., of Parkinson & Burr.

Many of the delegates did not leave Boston until today, although the midnight train for New York carried several special Pullmans for the bankers.

LAWRENCE DEATH CAR DRIVER HELD IN $1,000

Lawrence, Oct. 7.—Arraigned in the District Court here on a charge of manslaughter in causing the death of twelve-year-old Thomas Levis of Cambridge street, this city, Richard J. Higbee, driver of an automobile, was held in bonds of $1,000 awaiting the outcome of the inquest in the case. The boy was killed while he was at play on South Union street. Judge Daniel J. Cavan of Haverhill continued the case until October 26.

Jennie Lind Returns in Voice of Song Star

By Universal Service.

New York, Oct. 7.—Jenny Lind came back. No prancing ouija board, no medium, no spiritualist power or contrivance whisked her from the dust. She merely took for the evening the name of Frieda Hempel, and came back on her own accord, for it is one hundred years since the birth of the Swedish nightingale.

Carnegie Hall, worn and old and obsolete in the eyes of the modern concert goer, was scrubbed and redecorated for the evening. The lighting effects and the little tricks of stage setting which Jenny knew, were reproduced faithfully and Jenny—or Frieda, were her old clothes, her swaying crinoline, which disclosed a modest portion of throat and shoulders, and showed nothing of her shoes, a lacey, heavily embroidered monument to the dress maker's art.

The same old Bird concert grand which she played in the long ago when she was under the tutelage of P. T. Barnum of circus fame she played again tonight the son "Come Hither, Come Hither, My Pretty Herd," which won thundering applause in the old Castle Garden Theatre, was rousing and won a sedater, but fully as hearty a thunder of appreciation.

In the intermission the lobbies and the theatre buzzed with the anecdotes and legends which heavily encrust the name and fame of Jenny Lind. The audience was cosmopolitan, and the stories that were told of her came from many nations.

Fried Hempel, who, if the truth must be told, is responsible for this rare Jenny Lind performance, achieved the Jenny Lind costume, spirit and voice only by the severest labor.

ROXBURY BOY'S LEG BROKEN UNDER TRUCK

William Perry, aged seven, of No. 45 Marshfield street, Roxbury, suffered a fractured left leg when he fell off the seat of an auto truck and landed under the rear wheel, which passed over his leg. The boy was on his way home from school at the time.

NEW YORK PRIEST COMING TO ANDOVER

Andover, Oct. 7.—The Rev. Thomas F. Fogarty, O. S. A., formerly assistant priest at St. James' Church, Carthage, N. Y., has been appointed by the provincials of the Augustinian Order as assistant pastor of St. Augustine's Church here to succeed the Rev. Father William J. McCormack, who was recently transferred to another parish.

STILL AND WHISKEY SEIZED IN MAINE

Augusta, Me., Oct. 7.—An illicit still was discovered by the local authorities in a thickly wooded swamp, off the Mount Vernon road, seven miles from here. One hundred twenty-seven gallons of whiskey and an outfit used in its manufacture, valued at $500, were seized.

"LEAVE IT TO VOTERS," WILSON WIRES SPENCER

Washington, Oct. 7.—"I am perfectly content to leave it to the voters of Missouri to determine which of us is telling the truth," President Wilson declared in a telegram to Senator Spencer of that State, relative to the question of aid to Rumania, which Spencer charged the President promised at the peace conference.

The President in his telegram is considered at the White House to have closed the controversy between himself and the Missouri Senator.

ADMITS SHE THREW PEPPER INTO RIVAL WOMAN'S EYES

Jamesburg, N. J., Oct. 7.—"I guess I was temporarily insane," said Mrs. John Jennings, wife of a councilman and assistant fire chief of this town, when she admitted that she threw red pepper into the eyes of Mrs. Herbert P. Thomas, wife of a New York insurance broker. Mrs. Jennings is on $200 bail. Mrs. Thomas' husband threatens criminal action and a damage suit. The reason given by both women for the peppery attack is that Mrs. Thomas spoke to Mrs. Jennings' brother in the street, which Mrs. Jennings "didn't like." Rivalry for social leadership here is also said to figure in the feud.

SHIPPING BOARD STARTS PROBE

Secretly Investigates Private Management of Government Vessels

By International News Service.

Washington, Oct. 7.—Investigation of the management of United States Shipping Board vessels by private corporations is being conducted by the Shipping Board through a special committee, Rear Admiral Benson announced here today. The board refused to announce the names of those who are acting so they may be free to conduct the investigation without annoyance from any possible outside influences.

In several cases mismanagement of Shipping Board vessels has been brought to the attention of the board. In some cases the allocation division has recommended that the management privileges held by certain companies be withdrawn. In one case vessels were withdrawn.

Every effort will be made by the committee to find if vessels owned by operating companies are being given preference by operators over government vessels.

It is not believed by the board officials that alleged mismanagement has been of a willful nature. The report of the committee, which has been working for about two weeks without public notice, is expected before the end of the month.

MOVIE ACTOR'S WIFE GRANTED $25 A LIMONY

White Plains, N. Y., Oct. 7.—Epithets such as "moral leper" were piled upon the head of William Hardenberg Budd, film actor and relative of the New York Harriman family, by counsel for his wife, when the latter's plea for alimony and counsel fees were heard in the Supreme Court. The plaintiff, Mrs. Violet Adelina Budd, former light opera singer, was granted $25 a week alimony. She is suing for separation. Alleged "cruel" letters by Budd to his wife while he was serving with the army in France were introduced as evidence against him.

She's 81, He's 40; They're to Wed

Brockton, Oct. 7.—Eighty-one-year-old Mrs. Helen Phipps Daniels is to be married to C. J. McAvoy, forty-one years her junior, according to a marriage intention filed at City Hall. No date has been set for the wedding.

McAvoy, who looks ten years younger than his age, is a roomer and boarder at the home of the octogenarian bride-to-be at No. 58 High street. Mrs. Daniels is a widow and has lived in this city for fourteen years. Neither he nor she would discuss the unusual romance.

McAvoy declared that the wedding would probably not take place for several weeks as far as he was concerned.

Middlesex Superior Court

Alleging that he was severely injured and his automobile damaged when a car owned by John H. Dunlap of Somerville collided with it, John H. "Good-bye Summer"
Welcome Cozy Evenings Under the Lamp

"FALLING leaves and fading trees" inspired Tosti's "Good-bye Summer." To the homemaker they mean indoor living, and inspire her to freshen up the house for the long Winter months.

Take your cue from Nature—Her Autumn colors are warm and rich. Winter furnishings should suggest coziness and warmth. Go over the house today. Make a note of the things you need to freshen here—there and everywhere. Then come to Moller's and select them.

Rugs in beautiful colorings, rich draperies, floor and table lamps that turn the dreariest night to "rose color;" wing chairs that invite to rest; "occasional tables" for card parties and teas. Six floors of standard furniture—Period suites, as well as the latest designs of today.

It is always good to remember that Moller's prices are guaranteed lower than the cash prices at any Boston store (with the possible exception of a few unimportant price-restricted articles) and that Moller's Credit System is different—you pay no interest.

Owners Must Explain Extortionate Prices on Low Costs to Federal Attorney

Federal investigation, which is in keeping with the spirit of the Boston American's Bring-Your-Lunch-From-Home movement, will be put into operation by United States Attorney Daniel J Gallagher, who will have summoned before him certain hotelkeepers and restaurant owners who have failed to reduce prices despite the fact that many commodities have dropped in price in the market. This investigation by the federal attorney is expected to begin within a few days.

In speaking on the high prices asked by certain restaurant owners, Attorney Gallagher said:

"On the face of things it looks like extortion—nothing else. The prices that are being charged are outrageous. In some places the price paid for a bit of steak would indicate that this meat is costing $4 and $5 a pound in the market, whereas the best sirloin steak can be purchased today for 75 cents a pound.

"We are paying a tremendous price for potatoes, when one knows that potatoes are one of the cheapest things in the market today. The same thing is true of coffee. Think of it—10 cents and 15 cents for a small cup of coffee. I aim to have these hotelmen and restaurant men come into my office and they will be given an opportunity to explain their enormous profits and tell exactly what they mean by their actions.

On being asked how long the present Federal grand jury would sit, Attorney Gallagher said: "Until we get this matter cleaned up."

The Department of Justice it is said has proof that proprietors of certain lunch rooms, restaurants and hotels are gouging the public in a shameless manner regardless of the drop in price of commodities in the market.

AVON MAN ARRESTED FOR BEATING CRIPPLE

Daniel Callahan of Robin street, Avon, is under arrest at East Braintree charged with beating and severely injuring Otis Hollis of Washington street, Weymouth, in the latter's garage at East Braintree.

Callahan, who was half crazed from drinking Jamaica ginger, say the police, fought off three men who came to the rescue of Hollis and was not subdued until he had been roughly handled. Hollis' throat was torn in the fight and he is now under a physician's care. He told the police that Callahan attacked him when he refused to give him money.

GUIDES SHIP BY RADIO WAVES

"Blinded" Officer Drives Craft Through Ambrose Channel by New Invention

New York, Oct. 7.—With the glass front of the bridge completely covered with heavy canvas rendering him blind to all intents and purposes, Commander H H Norton U S N piloted the battleship Semmes through the narrow, deep-sea ways of Ambrose Channel from the ambrose light to Fort Lafayette a distance of fifteen miles.

The only thing he said to guide him was the monotonous click of a few dots and dashes repeating over and over again. Occasionally at times, the one word n-a-r-r-y. But as long as he heard it he knew he was on the right course.

If the sound grew stronger from the port bow he knew he was under a port left, which accentuated or diminished the sound. That would show him he was going either to the right or left of the centre of the channel. Then he would turn the ships nose in the proper direction again.

Past the dangerous bend in the channel just off Roamer Shoals, where many a port has met disaster, Commander Nortonaccided the Semmes as straight as a die along the centre of the ships troubled. Then, approaching Fort Lafayette with hundreds of ships of all descriptions on every side, he completed triumphantly on his sightless way.

The test was arranged by Commander R F McConnel in charge of the government's radio station and was witnessed by a score of other naval officers, expert electricians and engineers.

Ernest Hanson, the twenty-three-year-old inventor, who is connected with the Navy Department, decided that the idea could be made practical for guiding ships through narrow channels when fog rendered them useless and tied up all shipping. The Navy Department thought so well of the idea that a year ago they took over Hanson's idea to complete its development.

TAXI SERVICE IS RESUMED

The strike of taxicab drivers in Boston has been partially ended with the resumption of service by the Taxi Service Company, which has taken its men back to work, the union having accepted the terms offered by President J Freeman Marsten of the company.

It is said these guarantee the men a wage of $4.50 a day, but that any difference between that and the original demand of the men for $5 a day is to be left to the State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration. Their decision is to be final.

Others of the "Big Five" have so far refused to take back their chauffeurs.

The action was taken by Mr Marsten after Chairman Fisher of the Arbitration Board had recommended that the union accept his offer to take the men back and submit the matter to arbitration. The union so voted and the night force immediately returned to work.

Wearing their hair loose down their backs or in pigtails, and carrying green umbrellas, 400 girl freshmen of the College of Secretarial Science of Boston University were put through the annual initiation stunts by the upper classmen.

Hundreds of persons in the Copley square section enjoyed the jolly-like hazing. Some of the girls were ordered to ship rope on the steps of the public library. Others were forced to sing. At were forced to give exhibitions of jumping at Boylston and Exeter street.

JILTED SUITOR WANTS JEWELRY AND CASH BACK

Ralph Cioffo of Boston has brought a bill in equity in the Superior Court asking that Lawrence Leverni be ordered to return to him a $1 diamond ring which he says he gave her when they became engaged to be married. He states that after ward refused to perform her promise Cioffo also wants the $35 which he says he gave to her as a $150 down on purchase and $35 in money which he says he turned over to her to buy

DEPENDABLE CLOTHING AT ECONOMY PRICES

That's What You Will Find Today in All of Joyce Bros. & Co.'s Seven Stores

The real value of a garment is not the price you pay, but is the use and service it renders you. If the Clothing doesn't fit, if it doesn't wear right, if it fails to give satisfactory service, it's dear at any price. The people are entitled to the greatest value equivalent for each dollar's expenditure. They always find it here. It's not by accident that our business has grown to its now vast proportions. The people have become aware that The Joyce Stores' merchandise and word are alike reliable and that they always show A LARGER STOCK—A WIDER VARIETY OF BETTER LOOKING—BETTER FITTING—BETTER WEARING CLOTHES for less than equal money will bring them elsewhere. Without considering the "ifs" and "buts," the mere fact that we have and hold such a large proportion of the people as permanent customers must be conclusive proof that we could please and satisfy you if given an opportunity. IF IT'S REAL VALUE, EFFICIENT SERVICE AND COMPLETE CLOTHING SATISFACTION you want, you will find it always at any and all of THE JOYCE STORES.

AIRPLANE CO. SUED FOR SON'S DEATH IN CHARLES

Eugene G. Allen of Dorchester, the administrator of the estate of his son, Lester Allen Reed, has filed suit in the East Cambridge court against the New England Airplane Company for $10,000. The plaintiff alleges that on April 28, 1919, Allen paid the company $18 for a ride in a seaplane which was stationed on the Charles river, Cambridge, near the Cottage Farm bridge, and that the plane fell, killing the passenger. The suit was filed through Attorney Edward J. Brandon.

How Women Will Vote, As Depew Sees It

By Universal Service.

New York, Oct. 7—Chauncey M. Depew, the Poughkeepsie sage, aired his opinions on current questions here. The ex-Senator characterized Governor Cox's slush fund charges as a pipe-dream.

"Nine-tenths of the married women will vote as their husbands [illegible] Depew. "The other tenth will tell their husbands how to vote.

COLUMBUS DAY PLANS DRAWN

City to Hold Athletic Meet at Franklin Field and Pan-American Celebration

Plans for the city's celebration of Columbus Day are complete. They were perfected at a meeting of the city's public celebration committee held at City Hall.

There will be two [illegible] events. One will be an athletic meet at Franklin Field in the afternoon, in which a number of the Olympic contestants are expected to participate. In the evening will be held the sixth annual Pan-American meeting and [illegible] Union League Club. Mayor Peters was selected, and he has extended an invitation to the consuls and other official representatives of the twenty nations of South and Central America to attend. A special court of Honor will be constructed on Monument Hill, facing the parade ground, the last column of [illegible] which will be a display of the flags of the nations. The evening program at the [illegible] will be appropriate for Columbus Day as well as containing the idea of Pan-Americanism. Mayor Peters will preside, and will present to the assembled Boston audience a distinguished [illegible] of the countries [illegible] of Mexico.

Community singing will be a conspicuous feature. Information on the screen will relate to current American subjects as well as to the great discoverer who is especially honored on this holiday. [illegible] Band will play throughout the evening from 6:45 to 8:15 o'clock and will play through the evening for the community singing as well as render the national airs of all the Pan-American countries which, alternating by Star Spangled Banner, will be the outstanding feature of the evening.

BISHOP BEAVEN'S BODY IN STATE

Cardinal O'Connell Among Dignataries to Be at Funeral in Springfield Tomorrow

Springfield, Oct. 7—High church dignitaries, including Cardinal O'Connell, the Most Reverend John Bonzano, papal delegate, and the Most Reverend Joseph F. Rummel, archbishop of New Orleans, former president of Holy Cross College and a native of Springfield, will attend the funeral of Bishop Thomas D. Beaven tomorrow morning.

Most Reverend Bonzano will be the celebrant of the mass. The Rev. Jeremiah J. Dinand will deliver the eulogy.

Assisting will be the Rev. James J. Ahern, pastor of the Cathedral of the Holy Cross; Rev. John T. Sheehan of Worcester, Rev. Aguillo Trupiano of Holyoke, deacons of honor; Rev. John T. Sheehan of Ware, deacon of the mass, Rev. H. S. Sonnty of Plainfield, sub-deacon, Rev. A. A. Mayo of this city, master of ceremonies.

The body was carried in solemn procession to St. Michael's Cathedral. A guard of honor from Catholic societies remains with it as it lies in state. Special masses are being said every half hour. The funeral cortege will form at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Burial will be in St. Michael's cemetery. Stores and factories will close during the services.

GLOUCESTER BOY SHOT DEAD ACCIDENTALLY

Gloucester, Oct. 7—Howard Jacobs, aged seventeen, son of Captain and Mrs. Henry Jacobs of Mt. Pleasant avenue, was accidentally killed while hunting at Black's Cove. Jacobs, accompanied by Gerald McCarty, was shooting, and McCarty had gone down on the rocks to get a duck which he had killed. Jacobs was at top on a rock with a single-barrel shotgun between his legs, the muzzle of which rested against his breast. In some manner the gun slipped. The trigger struck a rock and the charge entered just over the heart. Jacobs was dead when medical aid reached him.

BACKYARD THIEF TAKES ONLY SILK STOCKINGS

A clothes line thief who steals nothing but feminine silk stockings was being sought by the Winchester police today following wholesale raids on backyard lines in several sections of that town. Many reports of thefts have been coming to the police for some time past, but last night at least a half dozen backyards were visited, according to telephone information to town police headquarters, and in each the lines were cleaned of all feminine hosiery that was silk or near-silk. No other clothing was touched.

BOSTON HOST TO GEN. FAYOLLE

French Hero of the Somme Arrives Late Today on Unofficial Visit

Accompanied by his aides, General Emile Marie Fayolle of France, distinguished commander of the First and Second Divisions of the American forces in the second battle of the Marne, will, late today, arrive in Boston for an unofficial visit.

General Fayolle, who won fame in the battles of the Somme and the Aisne, will be met by J. G. Fiamand, [illegible]

This evening General Fayolle will be a guest of Mr. Fiamand at a dinner at the Somerset Club. A number of army, navy and marine corps officers as well as several distinguished citizens of the State will be present.

Tomorrow morning General Fayolle and members of his staff will make a call on Governor Coolidge and Mayor Peters. From City Hall the party will journey out to Cambridge, where respects will be paid to President Lowell of Harvard.

In the evening the distinguished soldier will deliver an address at the Harvard Union.

General Fayolle will leave Boston Saturday morning for New York. He will remain in this country but a short time before returning to France.

SENSING THE SITUATION!

IN all the many years we have supplied BETTER CLOTHES to New England Men we have never been undecided, for one moment, as to our duty in matters of value or the prices of MORSE-MADE CLOTHES.

Our duty is always to see that the thousands of men who wear Morse-Made Clothes get a better deal HERE than they could anywhere else.

In the present unstable condition of markets we feel especially that it is for us to see that the wearers of Morse Clothes get every penny of value a dollar can buy. Because we are makers as well as retailers of the clothes we sell we realize the singular position we occupy to regulate our values and prices.

And in the present situation we have done just this. We have figured our entire Fall line on the basis of present material costs. You will find these clothes priced from FIVE to TWELVE DOLLARS LESS than a year ago.

BROOKLYN FIGHTS FOR VICTORY

Dodgers Display New Enthusiasm for Third Game of Series

Strikes, I put the tip that Caldwell would probably start for Cleveland. This put respect was evidently ranged for Mamaux on the mound. Manager Wilson's lefty proved the correct guess by shooting the ball for cleaning up on the opposing batsmen. Hoyt's good stuff was wasted so far as the Dodgers were concerned, but the Boston boy was the victim of poor support.

Coveleskie, the Cleveland star, who was for a while with the Boston Red Sox, also opposed Grover Cleveland Alexander, the great Nebraska twirler, who was with the Phillies for a time. Alexander was the star of the Chicago Cubs' pitching staff for many years.

Other Cleveland stars on parade were the slugging outfielders, Speaker and Jamieson. Speaker, who was with the Boston Red Sox for many years, and Jamieson, who was with the Detroit Tigers for a time, are two of the cleverest hitters in baseball. These two players are responsible for a good percentage of the Cleveland runs. The third player is Wambsganss, who is the shortstop who pulled the unassisted triple play in the world's series.

There is no need of smearing the fingerprints in these columns because it would be a social error. The only outstanding feature of the champions' slip or whatever it is, has been the weather. Jupe Pluvius has been absent but Old Man Boreas has been on the job, doing his best to make the entire affair a frost. In a way he has been successful. For further proof make a trip to Brooklyn and forget your overcoat.

Scandal Not Needed to Dampen Enthusiasm

It is claimed that the White Sox scandal has thrown cold water on the game but a little scandal like that was not needed. The series was all right without it. It was a real contest of the open ing battle. For a town situated so near to the United States, it's an awful mean. One cannot get there unless one cashes his bankroll with a heavy-eyed, scowling chauffeur, because it takes a big bribe to get those guys to cross the river. Some are looking for Ribbets Field yet.

However, baseball is the topic of the carnival, so will pass on to the next picture. In the conflicts, it was brought conclusively that spit ball pitchers are quite effective. If the terms can be pardoned in the first game Coveleskie epitha ed the Brook lyn gang to death, and in the second Kirkpatrick Grimes made it look extremely sad and forlorn. Fanny what a spot novice it of spitball will do when properly administered.

Cleveland couldn't connect with any of Grimes' slants and Brooklyn scored three runs. Brooklyn couldn't do a thing to Coveleskie on Tuesday and Cleveland scored three runs. Nothing could be fairer than that.

Cleveland Players Too Anxious to Hit

When a spitballer is good, its time to pack up the valise and take it on the run. And Grimes was good. Aided by the ambitious Cleveland batters, he got away with it in great shape and although seven singles bounced into safe territory and he handed out three bases on balls in one inning, the home team was not even scratched.

The reason for this was the anxiety of the Indians to clout the ball. They hit at bad balls. They wouldn't wait for Grimes to stick one over the plate, despite the instructions handed out by Tris Speaker. Smoke was wise, waited for the one in the groove and drew a single and a double. The hired hands, however, thought for themselves and you know what happens when a ball player tries to think.

Right didn't pitch such a terrible game, but the breaks were against him. Sewell, through inexperience, pulled two tactical errors which resulted in two runs. In the third he failed to cover second when Olson dropped a sacrifice in front of Bagby, and when the ball was thrown grimes sided with Sam just as he was about to make the catch. The kid shortstop was standing behind instead of in front of the bag. In the fifth, he was slow in starting Griffith's bounder over second and the runner was safe while a run scored.

Second Guess Baseball Is Always Easy

However, it's a cinch to pull the second guess stuff after it is all over. Telling a player what he might have done after it is over is like playing cards with a marked deck. But we are writing the opinions we have heard from the experts and experts are right most of the time, missing it only nine times out of ten.

Tris Speaker was the hero again and his sensational fielding was the big feature of the game. Of Brooklyn. The Clevelander was all over the outfield, time and again, and robbed Kilduff of a sure double with a shoestring catch. Another time he intercepted Janvrin's lofty try to retire Wheat. He also romped into right field to pull down a long fly. There have been outfielders in this great game of baseball that will not be able to compare with Tris Speaker.

Speaker did a lot of swell guessing on Tuesday and qualified as the master mind of the game. He did the same today when he crossed the dope and selected Stan Coveleskie to pull off the third game instead of Walter Mails.

The experts were sure that the left hander would be on the mound. "It's certain that Mails will be used," they said, "and today is the day. The reason for it is that he was used in Cleveland and needs a great Mails on the hill."

Manager Stokes however had different ideas and Mails was left in the bullpen.

Caldwell Feels Sure of Victory

"There isn't a team in the world that can beat me in a world series," Caldwell told Speaker. "I know how to pitch to those fellows and all I want is a chance. I will beat them sure."

Speaker told him to go ahead and do the best he could. Accidentally, Tris has a lot of confidence in the eccentric hurler. Last season, after Slim had been let out by the Yankees and nobody wanted him, Speaker claimed him at the waiver price.—Caldwell reported and was given a heart-to-heart talk on the first day.

"John, I'm afraid that baby is going to grow up to be a gambler."

"Was it cutting its teeth on a marked deck?"

* * *

"What is a double X-ball player?" "He is a young man who crosses the fans."

* * *

"What is gambling?" "It is something where both parties have an equal chance to win."

* * *

"Was there any gambling in the last World Series?"

"No, ma'am."

* * *

"How do gamblers get their bread and butter?"

"They find a man who has a loaf of bread and another man who has a pound of butter."

"He promotes a B. and B. series. The man with the bread bets it against the other man's butter."

"Very correct."

* * *

"Yes, yes; go on."

"And the gambler holds the stakes."

"What do they bet on and how does this nefarious practice start?"

"The gambler goes around and fixes up a round-hoeled series."

"What's that?"

* * *

"What moral does this point out? Does it teach us to never carry a bundle by the string?"

"Yes, ma'am."

"That's all for today, children. Tomorrow we will study the life of that great American patriot, Benedict Arnold."

ABE ATTELL IS PUT ON GRILL

Boxer Testifies Before New York Grand Jury; Others Called in Baseball Probe

New York, Oct. 7—Abe Attell was to be grilled today when the grand jury opened its investigation into crooked baseball.

Other witnesses who were expected called on to testify were [illegible] Brown, the last to visit Arnold. Assistant District Attorney Jim Smith was also looking for a "pre-game and rich operator" and a "Wall street broker."

The men who executed the "fixing" were only tools of men who planned it, thinks District Attorney Smith. He believes that group of men formed a half million dollar pool and bled underlings to carry out their plans.

Indictments against any found guilty of "fixing" baseball games can be prosecuted under the section of the penal code reading in part:

"Any person who by fraud or false pretense while playing at any game, or having a share in any wager or while betting on the side of such a play, acquires to himself or any others a sum of money or any other valuable thing, is guilty of a misdemeanor.

CARRIERS GAIN, STEELS OFF

Sears, Roebuck and Co. Common Slumps: Oils and Motors Recede; Trading Active

By W. H. ROSS,
Financial Editor.

Stocks were weak in New York at noon with the exception of high priced rails. The latter were the only active features in the market. Oils, sugars, steels and motors receded. Trading was active, first hour transactions totalling 450,000 shares. At the end of the morning prices were a little above the lowest level. Liquidation was in progress and the common was emphatic in letting off seven points at its lowest. General Electric declined more than five. Westinghouse was weak. Call money opened at 7 per cent. Foreign exchange dullness was noted as to chances, opening quotations indicating demand sterling 13.49¾, off 7 from 13.49¾, marks 2.0157, up 3.0002.

PRICES EASED OFF.

The market was irregular at the opening, but soon became weak and prices began to ease off at the end of ten minutes or so. It was a steady, persistent movement for lower and at the end of that period recessions ranged from fractions to 1 to 3 points or more. Rails were an exception, a few being strong. The majority of the gainers were advanced by the general trend. Among strong rails were Lehigh Valley, Northern Pacific, Southern Pacific, Canadian Pacific, Great Northern preferred and New York Central. Mexican Petroleum was weak opening with a fractional loss and soon being off more than a point. Southern Pacific sold about four points Northern Pacific at a high for the year before 11 o'clock. Texas & Pacific began with a small gain, but quickly lost it and more.

OILS WERE WEAK.

Weakest issues in early trading included Mexican Petroleum, Pan American, Royal Dutch, U. S. Steel, Studebaker, Bethlehem, Cb, Chandler, Atlantic Gulf and U. S. Rubber. Stocks, oils and motors, were weak. Missouri, Kansas & Texas sold off a little. It is understood that the reorganization plan calls for an assessment of about $32 a share on common stock and for a smaller amount on preferred. Bankers and brokers in Texas & Pacific are unaware, it is stated, of any developments in connection with the road which warranted the fourteen-point drop in the price of its stock yesterday. According to them the reorganization is premature.

The market rallied in the last hour of the most widespread session because of covering operations. This morning traders again took the bear side, one broker said in regard to sentiment. "The rank and file have become more bullish, but sane men have not." Railroads sold at 1920 highs during the first hour this morning, but they were high-priced, and besides Northern Pacific were N. Y. Central, Norfolk & Western, Union Pacific, Lehigh Valley and Atchison.

ROCK ISLAND AUTHORIZED TO ISSUE $2,000,000 BONDS

Washington, Oct. 7.—The Interstate Commerce Commission has authorized the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad Company to issue, as of January 1, 1898, $1,000,000 general mortgage gold bonds maturing in 1988. These bonds are to be issued under, pursuant to, and secured by the general gold bond mortgage dated January 1, 1898, made by the company to the Central Trust Company of New York and George Sherman, under which the Bankers Trust Company and Frank N. Hoe are now successor trustees. The bonds will bear interest at four per cent.

The commission also authorized the company to issue $1,000,000 worth of first and refunding mortgage gold bonds dated April 1, 1904, subject to redemption and to be exchangeable and to bear interest at the rate of four per cent. per annum.

IRREGULAR AND QUIET HERE

Boston Stocks Show Small Changes During the Morning; Curb Turns Weak

The Boston market had a quiet opening and was irregular as to price trend then and later in the morning, but the tone was better than at the close of the preceding session. The majority of active issues were up. Trading was of ordinary character and volume. Boston Edison was a feature, rising 4 and varying more than two points. Packing issues were mixed in movement and sugars, all of which were quiet. This was the case with copper, rails and motors were neglected in the market, as a rule, and there was trading in auto accessory stock. Bigelow-Hart was a leader and made a small gain. Other active issues were Westfield, American Telephone and Mexican Investment. Agricultural Chemical advanced two points and Atlas Tack one. New England Telephone was off a point. Up to noon the price range was narrow.

Fractional gains were made by American Coal, Calumet & Hecla, Old Colony, United Shoe, West End, Common, Edison Electric, Swift International, Agricultural Chemical advanced two points and Atlas Tack one. New England Telephone was off a point. Up to noon the price range was narrow.

Fractional gains were made by American Coal, Calumet & Hecla, Old Colony, United Shoe, West End, Common, Edison Electric, Swift International, Agricultural Chemical, Ventura, Swift & Co. and North Butte.

CURB GREW WEAKER.

At the opening of the Curb that market was irregular, but the trend was downward and it weakened soon. Among early leaders were Arizona Tip Top, Boston & Montana and Mutual. Issues in advance at the start were Hecla, Boston & Montana, Cascade, Daddy and Merrimac Development. Among weak ones were American Oil, Crystal and Acme Coal.

At the end of an hour Arizona Tip Top was off 1 cent at 11 cents, Boston and Montana 2 cents at 45 cents, Mutual 2 cents at 4 cents, and Allied Mining 1 cent at 26 cents. Arizona Silver was up 3 cents at 23 cents, Merrimac Development had lost its opening gain.

BOSTON FINANCIAL NOTES.

It is stated that 124,329 shares of stock out of 150,000 shares of the Swift & Co. issue have accepted the offer of exchange of stock made by the Swift International & Investment Co. to stockholders of the Sawyer Steamship Co. Interests in this company own 75,000 shares of American Ship & Commerce stock and 77,276 shares accepted the exchange offer.

New York Sub-Treasury Gain

New York, Oct. 7. The sub-treasury gained $685,000 from the banks on Wednesday, reducing the cash net loss since Friday to $11,589,000.

$6,000,000,000

Not long ago, a trade paper made the statement that six billion dollars should be spent by the railroads in this country for new equipment over the next several years, but if equipment companies get orders aggregating only half of this sum it will mean extreme prosperity for them for a long time to come.

It is interesting to know which equipment companies are in position to ,rosper to the greatest extent, so we have prepared a survey of the equipment situation, having analyzed the present financial status of the more important concerns, with the outlook for future business, and this survey appears in our current

Corporation Earnings

Sales by the Pierce Oil Corporation are at the rate of $5,000,000 gross monthly and it is figured that if net is but $500,000 a month for the last four of the year 1920 profits will total $4,082,082 after taxes, which would leave $3,582,582 for the 926,746 shares of common or $4.08 a share. In 1919 earnings on common were equal to $2.45 a share.

Sears, Roebuck & Co.'s September sales of $16,277,624 showed a decrease of $6,745,893 from September a year ago.

Woodworth Co. sales in September were $10,000,000, an increase of $1,000,000 over August. For nine months sales were $93,715,064, against $70,000,000 for the year, an increase of $15,000,000 or 19.25.

Although for the first six months of 1920 the Endicott Johnson Company showed a deficit, after taxes, for the period was $2,070,622, which is at the annual rate of $9.50 per share on the 218,000 shares common stock.

Net income of August Louisville & Nashville's balance was $1,840,507 but $340,377, compared with a balance of $4,078,000 at the end of May. Deficits for June, July and August totalled $3,987,000.

READING SAVES MARKET

Upward Sweep in Last Hour of Trading Carries Other Issues Along

By BROADAS WALL,
Registered U. S. Patent Office.

New York, Oct. 7.—Texas & Pacific Railroad stock broke fourteen points in Wall Street yesterday and threatened for a time to unsettle the whole market, but the strength of Reading saved the day. Reading advanced altogether six points and held nearly all of it. Stocks were all rather heavy at the opening. Texas Pacific showed weakness at once. All the other rails sympathized to the extent of a point or more.

When Texas & Pacific had its worst break professionals began covering short contracts. They found but little stock for sale. The result was that when Reading began its sweep upward in the last hour the whole list followed.

Call money renewed at 7 per cent. and some loans were made at 8 per cent before the close. The government withdraws $9,000,000 from the banks today, but as the Olympic brings more than that and the Adriatic is coming with about two million, the total money situation is in good condition.

Sears Roebuck, according to street report, that its semi-officially confirmed, will borrow about fifty million dollars on notes running one, two and three years. It is understood that during the life of these notes dividends on the stock will be limited to 6 per cent. Sears Roebuck pays 8 per cent. now. Whether this reduction of dividend will hurt the price of the stock remains to be seen.

Missouri, Kansas & Texas stock hit another new record price. The reorganization of the company is progressing and an assessment of some $25 a share is expected on both classes of stock.

Further slackening of the steel industry was reported by trade organs. A material decline in the volume of unfilled orders on the books of the steel corporation is looked for in the statement of Saturday.

Wall Street Briefs

It is announced by the Swift & Co. syndicate, which has been underwriting the issue for the $40,000,000 6 per cent. notes, the offering having been largely oversubscribed.

Directors of the Texas Co. have decided to recommend that stockholders fix a record date of 10 per cent. be paid March 31, 1921, to stock of record Dec. 31, 1920.

All of the $4,000,000 Missouri-Harris Co. Ltd. (Canada) Missouri Harris Harvester Co. gold debenture 5 per cent. bonds, $2,000,000 gold debenture 5 per cent. bonds, $2,000,000 preferred by Wm. A. Read & Co. at 100 and interest have been sold.

Wm. A. Read & Co. announce that the books have been closed on the $7,000,000 Canadian National-Grand Trunk Railway of Canada issue, guaranteed by the Dominion of Canada, the offering having been oversubscribed.

JAPAN DEMANDS SQUARE DEAL

Declares Situation Grave Unless Colonization in California Is Granted

Paris, Oct. 7.—"Unless Japan is granted freedom of colonization in California or Australia, the gravity of the situation will be supreme."

This was the declaration of a member of the Japanese delegation to Universal Service.

The growing population of our country makes it imperative for finding some outlet," he said. "This outlet must be obtained somehow. The calamity of the last war should have taught the malignz the futility of hostilities, and the urgent realization to

The Tokio government is also planning to ask the League of Nations to settle in favor of Japan the question of racial equality which President Wilson turned down at the Versailles peace conference.

As regards European politics, Japan intends to back the British plans on the means of exacting reparations from Germany, although Washington apparently is supporting the French project.

Enormous Bank Clearings

For the year ended with September, New York Clearing House exchanges reached the enormous total of $252,-218,249,466 and broke all records. This total exceeded that for the preceding year by nearly $40,000,000. The average daily clearings for the September year were $838,060,021.

Still Buying Silver

The U. S. Treasury is still buying silver and the latest purchase is $125,-000 ounces for the Philadelphia mint. The total of purchases to date at $1 an ounce is $16,796,646.

DANCER MAKES HIT IN FILM

Mary Hay, in "Way Down East," at Majestic, Was Former Ziegfeld Performer

"Little Mary Hay," as she is known to all her friends, has at last come into her own in the role of Kate Brewster in the Griffith production of "Way Down East," now appearing daily at the Majestic Theatre.

Mary arrived via the roof tops of the New York theatres. She came from the Ziegfeld "Nine O'Clock Revue," atop of the New Amsterdam Theatre, to the studios of the great Griffith up at Mamaroneck. Nor was this all. Do you remember the alluring dancer in the German dug-out in "Hearts of the World"? That sprite of terpsichore was Mary Hay. It was her first work before the camera, but she emitted well by the training received then from Griffith. That was back in 1918.

In the interim Mary got very busy, and in the casting of actors for the gaunt, homely roles in "Way Down East," Griffith remembered the bright, cheerful, flirty little Mary Hay, and sent for her to play Kate. That she gets all there is out of the part and more fun than eating sweet pickles in her love making with the professor, has to be seen to be enjoyed.

Dictation of Capital Cause of World's Unrest

Last Monday, Rev. Dr. Peabody made an address which seemed to have met with the approval of his audience. Among other things he said that the war necessarily had breached the practice of democracy in America, and he asked whether we were to perpetuate the breach or close it,

Is not our industrial order today the scene of an autocracy, where a few leaders dictate to the vast majority? We have suffered much from the dictatorship of capital, but now precisely the same situation is proposed as the "dictatorship of the proletariat." That is really nothing but the substitution of the rule of one Czar by the rule of another.

We notice the past tense in the statement that America has suffered much from the dictation of capital and we wonder whether Dr. Peabody means to imply that our suffering from the dictation of capital is a thing of the past. We wonder if he means to suggest that the dictation of the workingmen is the cause of any of the thirty-odd wars now being waged in the world while the League of Nations nods. The workingmen control but one country in the world. That country is Russia; and all the rest of the world is persecuting Russia on that account.

We cannot believe that a distinguished and intelligent clergyman does not know that all the present conflicts are conflicts in which capitalism is either the direct or indirect cause. Even when the wars have arisen only to the dignity of civil commotions like the ferment in Ireland, capitalism is an indirect cause. The terrible outrages which the Irish people have suffered in the last five hundred years of British domination have been caused by the use of political power of English capitalism to destroy Ireland's economic competition. The Ulster dissent, which today prolongs Ireland's agony, is really Belfast capitalism disguised under the cloak of religion and nationalism.

Poland's attack upon Russia is the capitalism of the Polish landlord and manufacturer and the capitalism of the French and English and American bankers. The wars in Mesopotamia and Persia are incited by the capitalism of the oil and other capitalist interests. The British interests in India which keep millions of people in a state of seething discontent is capitalism using political domination as usual for its own exploitation. So it is in Korea and Shantung and Asia, only their capitalists are Japanese.

We probably have not yet discovered a substitute for capitalism which we can afford to adopt all at once as the Russians have adopted the extreme form of socialism, and it may well be that the intolerable features of present day capitalism can be removed or restrained so that capitalism can be justified as the lesser of necessary evils and thus may never be disturbed. But the present method of defending it by concealing its faults rather than by eradicating them, and by exaggerating the evils and by working up an ill-founded fear of workingmen's dictation is not the way to secure capitalism in the future.

There is no danger of workingmen's dictation in this or any other country except Russia unless it is by a continuance of the present method of defending capitalism, namely, by concealing its wrongs and by attacking every honest effort of workingmen to improve their conditions as an attack of anarchists upon law and order itself.

Too Great a Power to Be Put Under Foreign Control

President Wilson's fine intellect, his gift of expression were not present in his appeal for his League of Nations last Monday when he said:

Those who do not care to tell you the truth about the League of Nations tell you that Article X. of the Covenant would make it possible for other nations to lead us into war, whether we will it by our own independent judgment or not. This is absolutely false. There is nothing in the Covenant which in the least interferes with or impairs the right of Congress to declare war or not to declare war, according to its own independent judgment, as our Constitution provides.

The incurable defect in the Wilson covenant is that it confides to an imperial foreign syndicate, composed of eight powers besides the United States, the power to decide when and where the young men and the resources of the United States shall be used to make war.

If we were concerned in a dispute which threatened war we would not have even a vote in the foreign syndicate or League Council.

If we were NOT directly concerned in the dispute, our sole representative in the foreign syndicate of nine nations could and, if an autocrat like Mr. Wilson were President, undoubtedly WOULD commit the United States to make war or not to make war as the President dictated, without consultation with Congress.

Article X., which Mr. Wilson declares is the heart of the treaty, commits the United States irrevocably to the obligation to "preserve as against external aggression the territorial integrity and existing political independence of all members of the league."

If that IS the heart of the treaty, as Mr. Wilson says, the treaty has a bad heart,

President Wilson says that the duty of fulfilling this contract whenever there IS a threatened war in any part of the world is only a moral obligation.

Ex-President Taft, undoubtedly a better lawyer than Mr. Wilson, says it is both a moral and a legal obligation.

As Honorary President of the League to Enforce Peace, Mr. Taft WISHES the United States to be committed to the use of force whenever the League Council or foreign syndicate deems it necessary to preserve peace.

So we see the famous Article X. means one thing to Mr. Wilson and another thing to Mr. Taft, who also advocates it, while President Lowell of Harvard University, the original advocate of the League of Nations, now believes that Article X. should be rejected altogether.

That is undoubtedly the view the country will take of it, in our judgment.

We don't want any imperialist syndicate sitting in Europe in secret behind closed doors with power to say whether or not we shall or shall not go to war.

The founders of our government decided that was too great a power to confide even to the President of the United States. It was confided solely to the Congress, REQUIRING THE CONCURRENCE OF BOTH HOUSES.

President Wilson would change all that. He sent the United States army to fight in Russia under British commanders without asking the consent of Congress.

More Truth Than Poetry

The Fossil

By S. E. KISER

LAST week they handed Brown a raise;
A strange, new gladness filled him;
He hurried homeward in a daze,
Things once unnoticed thrilled him.
"At last," he thought, "I'll have a chance
To do a little saving!"
Because of his unusual cheer
He caused his wife, at first, to fear
His mind was misbehaving.

HE told her all, and figured out
The monthly gain and yearly;
He felt so glad he wished to shout—
He walked on air, or nearly.
She sat and listened while he spoke
About accumulations;
He tried his best to make her see
The profit of frugality
And its rich compensations.

THEN she produced the landlord's note
About a raise of rental;
She had to have a new fur coat—
But that was incidental.
They might afford a Ford, she thought,
Without delaying longer,
"And since you're being better paid,"
She said, "I think I'll have a maid
Until I'm feeling stronger."

BROWN'S working as he worked before,
Still hopelessly and meekly;
He wears the same old clothes he wore—
They raised him ten bucks weekly.
The boss looked in the other day
And felt inclined to shake him.
"The darned old fossil!" he exclaimed;
"No kick or punch! I thought I'd framed
Up something that would wake him."

Did He Marry From Pique?

AMERICA'S $100,000,000 bachelor has jolted New York again. Alexander Smith Cochran, owner of the famous racing yacht Vanitie, who was almost broken hearted when his vessel was rejected as a cup defender, and who already has been disappointed in one famous love affair, has presented Metropolitan society with a bride—a lively, lovely, twice-widowed and mysterious Polish singer, by name Madame Ganna Walska.

It is possible that Cochran, who is well known in Boston society, married partly out of pique. Miss Martha McCook, whom he had wooed for years, recently married young Elliott Cross. Almost immediately Mr. Cochran's marriage was announced from Paris. The entire story of his late romance appears in the Magazine Section of the next Boston Sunday Advertiser.

Paris, just finished with one war, is carrying on another, which may prove almost as serious. Ten million rats, offspring of trench vermin of other days, have taken possession of the city, driving out the inhabitants, spreading disease, and literally eating the city out of house and home. Stringent measures are being taken—but with slight success—to exterminate the rodents. Read about them in the Boston Sunday Advertiser.

A little baby has just been born of a father now awaiting death for murder and a woman sentenced to twenty years in prison for the same offense. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James O'Dell, whose brutal murder of Edward A. Kneip, the woman's former lover, filled the pages of the newspapers some months ago.

What is to become of the baby? Professor Sothnos Latellier, famed as an astrologer, has cast the horoscope of the infant. In the Boston Sunday Advertiser next week he tells the story of the checkered career which the stars promise her.

A beautiful art study, painted by Carl Link especially for the Boston Sunday Advertiser, appears as the front cover of the Magazine Section this coming Sunday. The second instalment of "Fire of Youth," by Harry Forman, also is a feature.

Ye TOWNE GOSSIP

Registered U. S. Patent Office

By K. C. B.

Dear K. C. B.—In your department in Hearst's Magazine for October you express disapproval of the lawful destruction of stray cats. What would you do? Allow them to multiply indefinitely? I am a lover of cats and rather than allow them to wander about homelessly, I should prefer their destruction. So would any sensible person.—M. A. B.

DEAR M. A. B.
IT MUST be,
I DON'T love cats.
BECAUSE EVERYBODY.
WHO WANTS them killed.
ALWAYS LOVES them,
BUT, ANYWAY, Mab.
WHATEVER I thought,
I DIDN'T say.
THAT STRAY cats
SHOULDN'T BE killed.
I SIMPLY suggested.
IT WASN'T right.
TO KILL a cat.
FOR NO other reason.
THAN THAT a cat.
WILL KILL a bird.
FOR AFTER all.
THEY WERE made that way.
AND I'LL agree.
YOU MAY be right.
ALTHOUGH I feel.
THAT IF you and I,
WERE CHRIST-LIKE men.
IF SO it be,
YOU ARE a man.
AND WE found a cat.
WITHOUT a home.
AND SEEKING food.
WE'D TAKE it in.
BUT WE can't do that.
FOR IF we did.
WE'D BE overrun.
AND THE trouble is.
THAT WE'VE gone on.
AND BUILT up cities.
AND FOUR-ROOM flats
AND NARROW streets.
AND ALL such things.
AND HAVE made no place.
FOR OUR friend, the dog,
OR OUR friend, the cat.
WHOM WE took in.
WHEN WE lived out doors.
AND SELFISHLY.
WHEN THEY encroach.
THEY MUST be killed.
FOR THE peace of mind.
OF YOU and me.
AND MAYBE you're right.
"MAYBE I don't know.

I THANK you.

MICROBES FIERCEST ENEMIES TODAY

By The Spectator

"YELLOW FEVER," said Henry Ward Beecher, "is God Almighty's opinion of dirt." The chief contributing cause toward modern efficiency in surgery is that surgeons have learned to keep clean. Nothing is so spotless as a good hospital. Everything is boiled and sterilizing—beds, instruments, clothing, washrugs, floors, hands and fingernails. That is why they save lives there. Nobody would die if he could keep perfectly clean. Death is the final triumph of dirt.

The enemies of savage men are the big beasts—lions, tigers, elephants and alligators. The enemies of civilized men are the little beasts, with much longer names than those of the big fellows.

For instance, there is the bacillus family. They can be seen only with a microscope. They attack in the dark. Big beasts are called "game," for it is fun to hunt them; but there is no fun about these diabolical little ones.

Enemies of Dirt

There are two mortal enemies of dirt. One is health and the other is soap. The most remarkable difference between Cleopatra and a modern American beauty is that the former had ten kinds of perfume and the latter ten kinds of soap. There was no soap in the good old days. That which is termed soap in the Bible was a preparation of ashes. The Romans in their baths used ashes. During the Middle Ages people did not wash, to speak of. For that reason plagues came along every once in a while and wiped out whole cities.

Flies, mosquitoes and bugs of all kinds are the favorite messengers and carriers of the deadly microbe. The greatest of these are flies, the dirtiest creatures God ever made. It might be questioned if God made them; for one of the devil's names is Beelzebub, which means "the lord of flies." Those who are fond of investigating may discuss why flies were ever made at all; but for us the answer is plain as a pikestaff: they were made to be killed. Whoever destroys one is a friend of his race.

Nero's Case

Nero is said to have been fond of murdering flies when he was a boy. If he ever is let out of purgatory it will be by grace of that sin.

While, therefore, we are to keep as clean as we can, no perfection of neatness, no superlative old maidishness, will keep off disease unless we encourage bodily energy at the same time. Activity is a wondrous antiseptic in itself.

Nothing more curative could happen mother's precious pet who is "not very strong" than to get out in the street, where he would have to fight or get his nose punched and his head ducked in the gutter. The internal energy must be aroused to co-operate with external hygienic conditions.

To the Editor

Bishop Beaven

Editor Boston American:

In the death of Bishop Beaven, the communities in the Western and Central parts of the Commonwealth have lost a good friend.

Through the many years that I served as trustee of the Massachusetts Training Schools, I had frequent opportunities to observe his sympathetic and broad-minded points of view. He was indeed wise enough to get the other man's thought.

Although he visited the reform schools regularly, it was especially on confirmation days that his influence was felt. Many a boy and girl has been permanently inspired by the gentle forcefulness. He will be greatly missed.

CARL DREYFUS.

Opposed to Socialism

Editor Boston American:

The writer takes exception to the rather extravagant assertion made by Mr. Joseph A. Golden, relative to the socialistic proclivities of the Irish in America and their brethren of Irish extraction. Mr. Golden thinks that large numbers of us will vote Socialist because of our racial sympathies. Some misguided citizens may vote Socialist when the test comes the overwhelming majority of the so-called Irish American vote will be cast for the candidate who they feel will best promote the peace and prosperity of this United States, even though we have every reason to be dissatisfied with the two leading parties on account of their vacillating attitude towards the cause of Ireland. To vote Socialist would violate their reason and repudiate the principles of Catholicity which is diametrically opposed to Socialism.

DINOSAUR TRACKS IN BAY STATE ROCK

By Garrett P. Serviss

DURING the annual meeting of the American Astronomical Society, held at Smith College in the opening days of September, I had the pleasure and advantage of seeing, under the guidance of Professor William J. Miller, the geologist, some remarkable tracks of dinosaurs who, probably not less than ten million years ago, lived in the Connecticut Valley, or the depression where the Connecticut River now flows between Northampton and Holyoke.

The dinosaurs that left these footprints belonged to a primitive type of that kind of creature. They were two-legged, not four-legged, and they may be thought of as bearing a general outward resemblance, as Professor Miller says, to kangaroos, though the kangaroo is a very different species of animal, and the suggested resemblance is not intended to be carried beyond a certain similarity of bodily outline and perhaps some likeness in the method of progression.

Each Weighed a Ton

The largest of these dinosaurs may be supposed to have weighed at least a ton, and their footmarks, though of a very different shape, cover about as much area as those of an elephant. But in outline the marks bear more resemblance to the tracks of a huge three-toed bird than to those of any quadruped.

Some of them are relatively small. I noted one beauty, only recently disclosed by the weathering away of a superposed layer of sandstone, which was about as large as a three-fingered human hand with the middle finger extra long.

The larger animals had a sweeping stride, and it takes a long-legged man, with trained muscles, to step from one of their footmarks in the rock to the next. Series of six or eight successive steps may be traced, but the trail soon disappears in either direction under an as yet unremoved upper stratum, or else has been obliterated by weathering, or by the stupid destructiveness of petty human dinosaurs out on a picnic.

Marvellous Readings

The stories told to the eye of the geologist on these imprinted sandstones, that once were mud, are more marvellous than those that the skilled antiquarian can read. The forgotten languages, on the most ancient human monuments. They show that winds, waves, tides, rains, sunshine, flowing waters, gravitation, chemical, electrical and vital energies were working just the same on this earth millions of years before man was created and began to imagine himself the favorite child or from such toys had been made.

Ages after the huge beasts that left the footmarks had vanished, with all their tribes, the earth heaved, molten rock gushed up, the Triassic sandstones with their dinosaurian hieroglyphics were broken through and tilted up, and the fiery foundations were laid of what we now call Mount Tom and Mount Holyoke, whose green-clad flanks have glorified Summer since long before human history began.

Stars and Stripes

Gentlemen who denounce profiteering are called Bolsheviks; those who do the profiteering are viewed as sinister influences; the fellows in between are just plain simps.

In making the League of Nations his main campaign issue, Governor Cox is, in effect, betting his chances of the Presidency that the voters of this nation haven't any common sense. He will lose.

Without reducing wages, Henry Ford has cut prices and profits. It's fortunate he was kept out of the Senate; he's more useful where he is.

Former Secretary Lane thinks that campaigners are overlooking "the greatest issue in the public mind—the high cost of living." They are, and for a reason. They have no cure.

Congress tried once to tax stock dividends, but the Supreme Court said nay. Never overlook the importance of the last word.
